Re: WIN-GIN Farms

Dear Judge Pratt:

Your letter of April 6, 1990 is received.

In 1971, while a practicing lawyer in Iowa Falls, Iowa, I purchased as an investment an undivided one-half interest in a 120 acre Iowa farm. The other undivided half interest is owned by [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]. In order to jointly manage our undivided interests, [REDACTED] and I formed a 50-50 partnership we call WIN-GIN Farms which is a passive conduit which receives the cash rent from the farm, pays the insurance, taxes, and repairs, and passes through the net rental income to each of us equally. The partnership does not own the real estate. We do not farm the ground but have always rented it for cash rent to long time farmer tenants. WIN-GIN Farms produces no crops, raises no livestock, and sells no products. It is the management device by which [REDACTED] and I have chosen to efficiently manage our equal but undivided interests in the real estate. We both do the occasional weekend small repairs such as fixing fence and painting which are required to maintain the property and I prepare the annual Federal and Iowa state income tax returns for the partnership and see to their filing. The total gross income from the rents last year was $8,100 and after expenses we netted about $6,000 that was split equally between us.

Honorable John H. Pratt

I fully disclosed the nature of this investment at the time of my confirmation hearing, and have reported it on each and all of the financial disclosure reports I have filed. In the fourteen years I have been a trial judge subject to the Code of Conduct, no person has suggested any impropriety in my relationship with [REDACTED] or WIN-GIN Farms.

WIN-GIN Farms is not a "business" -- it is a vehicle by which I manage my investment in the farm. If I owned the whole of the farm as an investment and rented it out for cash, I would be doing the very same functions I do with [REDACTED] through WIN-GIN Farms.

Canon 5(c)(2) provides in part that "a judge may hold and manage investments, including real estate, . . . but should not serve as an officer, director, active partner, manager, advisor, or employee of any business." Since this partnership is a conduit for rent and is not engaged in any "business," including farming, I believe it is fundamentally different from the closely held small business corporation in Advisory Opinion No. 10, and from the proscribed personal management or operation of a farm or ranch explained in Advisory Opinion No. 30.

I hope this information is helpful to the Committee as it reviews my Financial Disclosure Report.

Respectfully yours,
[REDACTED]

David R. Hansen
