Mike,

We did not contemplate sharing information with the Hill prior to the release of the final report. However, we were called in to brief two committees today after Lois' remarks at the ABA were reported in the media. We are currently reviewing potential redactions in the report before issuing the final report to the IRS and the public. I don't have a specific timeline, but I believe the report will be issued in final next week. I believe the events of today may speed things up a bit so I will do my best to keep you in the loop on the public release of the report.

Hello, Troy,

We are curious about what has happened to your report on c 4s and our response. Have the report and response gone to the Hill (Representative Issa is quoted in the press saying something that makes it sound, to me at least, as if he does have it). And do you have an estimate when it might be released to the public? I appreciate that it is often difficult to predict that date.

Hope all is well.

Mike
