SUBJECT: Remove to Instant White House Torvel Office Management Review

In an effort to respond to the Internal Travel Office Review, I have propered this memorandum, which details my response to the various conclusions of that Report. This is a soul cleansing, carefully detailing the surrounding clacoustances and the pressure that demanded that action be taken immediately. It is my first summpt to be more the record in straight, something I have not done in provious conversations with investigators -- where I have been as promotive and wages as possible. I know you will carefully consider the issues and concerns expressed bursts.

As a preliminary matter, the procedure followed in finalizing the apport was accellently unfair. Even in the connect of General Accounting Office and its and reviews, the reviewed agency is afforded the opportunity to respond to the report and criticizes prior to release and publication. This is an important step which allows inscenarios or erromeous conclusions to be addressed and connected prior to publication, and more importantly, allows the criticized party to respond to the connect of the report. Unformetely, in this case, neither I nor others directly involved wate afforded any opportunity to rebut the contents and conclusions of the internal Raview.

In this case, I was notified of the forthcoming reprimend around 10 a.m. on July 2. But I received a copy of the report shortly after noon the same day, and at get exact time from that briefing the report was publicly released. I was never afforded the opportunity to respond, and wall this memorandum, I have never responded to the report or its contents.

With the recent release of GAO sudits and the resultant pross coverage and criticism of my office, setting the record straight on the Travel Office occurrences is important.

BACKGROUND

As you mcall, an innue developed between the Secret Service and the First Family in February and March requiring resolution and action on your's and any parts. The First Family was annious to have that signation immediately resolved, and the First Lady in particular was extremely upon with the delayed action in that case.

Likewise, in this case, the First Lady took interest in having the Torvel Office sization resolved quickly, following Harry Thomason's bringing it to her attention. Thomason in that the Tirst Value as his runnings that the Travel Office was improperly funnelling business to a single charger company, and told her that the functions of that office could be easily replaced and reallocated.

Once this made it onto the First Lady's agenda, Vince Foster became involved, and he and Harry Thomason regularly informed me of her amenion to the Travel Office sinution - as well as her insistence that the situation be resolved immediately by replacing the Travel Office staff. · • . : ۰.

Foner regularly informed me that the First Lady was concerned and desired action - the action desired was the firing of the Travel Office staff. On Friday, while I was in Memphis. Foster told me that it was important that I speak directly with the First Lady that day. I called her that evening and she conveyed to me in clear terms that her desire for swift and clear action to resolve the sinuction. She mentioned that Thomsson had explained how the Travel Office could be run after removing the current staff - that plan included bringing in World Wide Travel and Penny Sample to handle the basic travel functions, the actual actions taken post dismissal grand in light of that she thought immediate action was in order.

On Monday morning, you came to any office and mot with any soft and Pathy Thomasson. At that meeting you explained that this was on the First Lady's "rader screen." The message you conveyed to me was clear: immidiate action must be taken. I suplained to you that I had decided to terminate the Travel Office employeet, and you expressed relief that we were finally going to take action (to resolve the situation in conformity with the First Lady's withes). We both know that there would be hell to pay if, after our failure in the Secret Service situation rather, we failed to take swift and decisive action in conformity with the First Lady's wishes. You then approved the decision to terminate the Travel Office staff. and I indicated I would send you a memorandum outlining the decision and plan, which I did.

I have never stated all this so clearly before, but so form a complete and accurate picture it. must all be kept in mind while reading the specific criticisms of the Podesta Management Review. I will now address those enticisms directly.

RESPONSE TO SECTION IL "DISCUSSION OF PRINCIPAL ISSUES" OF TRAVEL OFFICE REVIEW

"Travel Office Management" (Page 14): "The review conducted by KPMG Peat Marwick uncovered serious financial mismanagement." At _...

At the strong recommendation of myself and others in my office, KPMG Pest Marwick was brought in - instead of having the FBI take over immediately - to review the financial practices of the Travel Office. I concurred in Pest Marwick's analysis and conclusions: Management of the Travel Office was abysmal.

"Treatment of the Travel Office Employees" (Page 15): "While all White House Office employees serve at the pleasure of the President, the abrupt manner of dismissal of the Travel Office employee was uncertainy and insensitive." At

In the conversion with the Travel Office suff notifying them of their termination, I explained that a raview of the Travel Office operations had always been planned to conform to the general review process implemented across the White House administrative offices and the Office of Administration. I further explained my decision to terminate their, I explained that from a measurement perpective, is this case it was best to relieve them all immediately from their jobs and provide them an additional two weaks in pay. I informed them of this and asked them to leave immediately. The tone was first, with supplement recounted in the Peat Marwick report. I explained that in light of that minumagement, it was best to dismiss the centire office.

The allegation in the report that this was insamilive is wrong. These samployees work at the pleasure of the President and all is the White House Office should understand that there is extremely low tolerance for the severity negligent and unaccountable procedures followed in that office. In light of the First Lady's insistence for immediate action and your concurrence, the shrupt manner of dismissal, from my perspective, was the only option.

"Measurer, the Past Marwick separt did not famile melleient even for terminating the complexes wishout fermioni sutherity. As a legal puster, the White Hears right to terminate an exployee where terms. In this case, heavene, the White Hears assured that the termination of all source over for more. Band on the information working, this section were improved that with respect to the complexes who did not expected function attaining. A sector with respect to the complexes who did not execute financial antiherity. . . . Alsons some, a more lamons approach work in order. For example, over if it was childed that the Tavel Clefton world quests taxes efficiently with a sectorizing another soft, on effort and have been made to been other federal employment for these when would be displace." At 15.

As early as February, the intent of Management and Administration was to review and reorganize the Travel Office before October 1 into a latter operation — just as with every other office within the domain of Management and Administration, from the Photo Office to the Telephone Office to the Travel Office. That remained the plan until the intence pressures surrounding this incident arose in May. If given time to develop, the original plan to reorganize the Travel Office to a smooth transition is September would have allowed the Travel Office employees to seek other federal placement, along with other Executive Office of the President suff, in anticipation of the end of the fiscal year stiff curr, however, when pressure began to build for immediate action in the Travel Office, the long-term plans were short-circuined.

> "The other major White House ministics in the spectrum of the former Travel Office suppleyers was in terminising their representation. This resulted, as discussed above, from the inspectrum discharge of an PM investigation into paramicily wrongloing in the Toron Office. (p. 15)..., it was a ministic for the White House to publicly discuss FRI investigations, which lad to the disclosure of the FRI investigation..., it is the White House and the disclosure of the first investigation...,

White House had asked the FRI to investigate. Ellar had also mentioned the FRI in an anciec deak of talking points. In making that reference, Wettins and Ellar were insumitive to the offset such subrunces can have on the reputation of an instance person. This minute was sumpounded when Foster's and Kannedy's instance of a similar the FRI reference was not carried out. Wolking this analysis in the ball of the instants the FRI reference was not carried out. Wolking this manage to reach Mysers, and Ellar himself sminned the FRI pathemas in his own background pross brieflags the manning of May 19. However, pather ensured that Myser avoided the reference." At 15.

Revealing the ongoing FHI investigation was insensitive, but that fact comprised one sentence in a draft version of talking points drafted by one of my suff and distributed for comment on the morning of May 19 — the day of the termination. The talking points were distributed to Forser, Kennedy, Myers, and Elier with the expectation that we would have until the 2 o'clock press briefing to got the kinks worked out of the talking points. As soon as the suggestion came to delote the reference to the FHI, it was done. I immediately went to see Myers to inform her of the change and sensitivity to the conjoing investigation, but she had gone to the Hull with the President. I struck that sensore from Eller's copy and ashed him to inform Myers. As soon as Myers returned from the Hull, prior to noon — more than an hour before the press briefing — I proceeded to her office and told her not to mention the FHI investigation. She informed me that it was too late. She had already responded by phone to a reporter's inquiry by phone.

Thus, this was a mistake made on my part because I was not intuitive enough to take the talking points drafted by one of my suff and realize that the FRI investigation should not be mentioned - despite the strong support this provided for White House actions.

"Catherine Cornalises also played a role in the diamined of the Travel Office employees, and due too had a personal states in the sencers. As the three memore she wroke as the Travel Office ansat, her was experient to work in and, if possible, memore the Office. Her proposal to reorganize the travel offices was appropriate and would be considered usual to say transition process. But her role is the statistica-metric process size she became, in affect, as 'accused' of the Travel Office employees, by collecting documents and alloging possible wrongdoing, was improperies. . . . [B]very effort model he made to implice the federal government's menagement deviations from even the appearance that personal internets have played a role in the outcome of those statistics." A 20.

Catherine Cornelius had no part in the dismissals. I put no stock in most of what Cornelius told me except to the degree it was facual. Her arguments for dismissal and reorganization had absolutely no bearing on the final decision to terminate the employees. If her input had been respected, the need for Pest Marwick would have been negligible, but in light of her self-interest and her tendency to exagerate. I decided to rely exclusively on a professional accounting firm. Catherine Cornelius, despite the Review's suggestion to the contrary, had absolutely no role in the decision-making process, and was in no danger of being placed in charge of the Travel Office. My intent all along was to put a trained financial manager over all the White House administrative operations, including the Travel Office.

When I arright Catherine to the Travel Office, I did ask her to provide a report to me on when a statigner construct to use arrow course, a new sectors to provide a report to me of May 15 based on her previous experience and actual experiences in the Travel Office. She was placed in the Travel Office because of her prior experience in that area, and a need to move her out of my interesting office - where the had become a limitility to daily operations. Having had amonaive superisance with Catherine, I know that her report would contain Having had annualive superionce with Catherine, I know that new report water constant unworkship moornimedutions, but as I have in the past, I expected to distill those with which I disagreed from those I thought helpful. Unfortunently, due to her desire to revenue the Travel Office is her own Houser, Catherine may have ignored my intent to carefully moview and scrutining say recommendations made.

After Catherins because an "accuss" of the Turvel Office staff, has input was merely on a . factual loval. I interviewed her to derive the factual basis of her allegations and for facts should solve a subsystemen set to carry us mount outs or set subgratous set for facts about the tasks performed by the Travel Office staff, but never solved for other, non-factual input other than the May 15 report I was expecting. All views she expressed were evaluated in light of her known bias. To put it simply, she had so impact on the decision-making process other that by providing factual information.

"The White Meson took arrows and animate that desauratement at investivity to the appearance of forecrision." (Heining World Wide Theory) on a mobile basis -- over at me immine, one-pay measure -- essented for appearance of forecrisions toward a local friend from for surprise. Wide's Wide The chevriding appearing the to 1970s and World Wide was a alient of Workies' aparty during that time period." At 20.

Part of the plan for immediate replacement of the Travel Office staff was use of World Wide Travel Service to book commercial flights for the Office. This aspect of the pins was discussed with all insensed parties, and all concurred with knowledge that World Wide had been the campeign's travel agent. This made the most some due to the fact that we could not have publicly solicized bids in light of confidentiality concerns and when we had cogoing business needs that had so be taken care of immediately following the terminations.

As for the my longtime sequaintance with Betta Carney and World Wide Travel, I must point to my experience in the business world. These, reliance on a firm from whom one has received exceptional service is the rule.

We had recent experience with World Wide, and based on that experience I knew we could rely on them for confidentiality in handling and preparing to handle the Travel Office business, until the business could be subject to full and open competition.

World Wide meansive reducessed that they sould zerve White Hence business only through an again, computing hidding process. But the impression of Sevoring a local supporter was impossible to dispol."

At this point in the sequence of events, with the current plan approved by the First Lady and the yourself including resort to World Wide Travel, it would have unnecessarily heightened confinion to rearbit an unknown mayel service. Again, a paintary source of the problem was the abuptness caused by the calls for immediate actions in the Travel Office and the at least daily inquiries. If my plan to showly shift as the fiscal year came to a close had remained intact, a travel agent would have been procured in a more transport fashion. However, since at the time of hiring World Wide it was known that they had a GSA contract, hiring World Wide was not as questionable or "non-competitive" as the Report or the press would have one believe.

> "Bringing in Proof Sample, Provident of Air Advantage, to benefits prove characte on a no-bid, volument havin furthered the approximate that the Wishe House was trying to help its friends. Sample was the Classo-Gaus samplings's shorter broker and a close associate of Dancel Martuns. This implies no improve conduct on Sample's part, her, sprin, second an appearance of forecision." At 20.

Like World Wide Travel, Penny Sample was part of the abort-term plan for running the Travel Office after the terminations. Since she was willing to volunteer her services without her or her company receiving any compensation — because we realized. Hhe they did, that they would be conflicted out of virtually all White House business — we believed the conflicts and appearance of favoritism issue had been sufficiently addressed. Again, we did not believe it to be favoritism to have a former service provider for the campaign volunteer to assist the White House.

"White House Management" (Page 21):

"De White House made a number of management mistaker in hundling the Travel Office."

"Laz Procedures"

This responsibility for Thousann's influence on the Travel Office incident must be exciting to White Hours meanspecter. Thousann should have avoided continued involvement in a metter in which his basisness parmar and his franck in the characbusiness stood to benefit and in which there was an appearance of francial coeffict of involvement. But her procedures allowed his continued participation in the process.... There should be bester meanspected his continued participation in the process.... There should be bester meanspected his control with respect to the minimum that any me-White Hears and process is brought in to carry and. Permitting Thousann — or any man-staf process who command in an special anigument — to work on problems sension the mouse of his or her anigment is not a good precise." At 21.

Management and Administration had no part in bringing Thomason into the White House. In fact, the responsible office failed or imentionally neglected to inform Management and Administration of the name of his work. Contact with this Office on the subject consisted only of the First Lady's Office calling to insist on immediate access for Thomason.

"Placing Cornelius in Travel Office."

"Given Constitute Values" "Given Constitut" personal inneres in running the Travel Office, Wattine should not have placed her in the Office to make recommendations on how the Office should be and the second

As stated above, Catherine was placed in the Travel Office because of her experience in travel and to allow her to make a meaningful and rightfleam contribution to this Administration. The original assignment was made to see if she would work there permanently - if she liked that work and if it likewise suited her. The report I asked her to draft and provide on May 15 was in no way the driving force for her assignment to the office, it was simply a way to help determine her long-term suitability. She was placed in . that office because of her emenive experience since October 1991 in coordinating travel for then-candidate Bill Clinton. She was not placed in the Travel Office primarily to make recommendations on its fature structure.

"Watking compounded the problem when, in purpose to Themsent's completer, he asked Consists to be alart to possible womploing or correspon. Correlast induct the experience or proparation for this role. Nor was also gives new guidence." At 21.

Catherine was not asked to investigate or document wrongdoing by the Travel Office staff. I understood that she lacked experience to perform such a task. Catherine was merely asked to observe what transpired in the Travel Office - nothing further was requested or expected. Special training is not needed to keep one's eyes and cars open, to observe. I never asked her to collect documents or other information; she undertook this of her own valition.

"If, in April, Waiting thought the allogations reported by Thomson should be looked , at more seriously, he should have done to in a more professional memor." At 21.

The suggestion that this could be more professionally handled is absurd. I noted the allegations, but thought they could wait for review - and knew they would be examined during the course of the planned internal review of the Travel Office. For that reason, no action was taken other than to ask to Catherine to "knep her eyes and ears open."

"Poor Planning."

There was no adequate plan in place to manage the Travel Office in the shermath of the dismissie." At 21.

Harry Thomason indicated that he could put a more efficient structure in place in an hour's time to handle all the tasks of the Travel Office. While I believed that my original plan to carefully review the Travel Office would best serve the White House, when I spoke with the First Lady on Friday night, May 14, she cited Thomason's plan as support for the need for immediate action. That action involved utilizing World Wide Travel and Penny Sample in the short them. As well, in my memo to you on May 17 explaining my intent to terminate the Travel Office employees the next day, the intention to use World Wide Travel was outlined. You approved this action based on this memo prior to the actual terminations.

"For accurate, no use is the decision-suching choic spake to the White Hence prosand prost advance suff maphens who worked abouty with the Tawwi Office employeet, frame the coupleyeet there, makestand the services they provided and the degree 20 which they were solid upon by members of the strewling prose and other associatemines. Name was assured by Watchins." At 22.

In light of the need for absolute confidentiality, it would have been foolharity to consult the print of press advance staffs. From the staff review and Catherine Connelius," experience (this is the primary arm, where her factual experime was relied upon), we in fact did know the services that the Travel Office staff performed. Catherine Connelius and Harry Thomason regularly and reparately resoured me that the press charter function could easily be assumed with the anistence of Fenny Sample. Then, plans to replace these aspects of the Travel Office functions were in place prior at the diministic. Then, when the need for immediate replacement because evident, I committed to pervide weaksever assupower was needed to perform the services the Travel Office suff had performed.

Immediately following the dissonals, meetings were held with the press and press advance staff to make all necessary arrangements for specering trips. These discussions rame after the fact, but were accompanied with a commitment from my office for all necessary resources to perform the job.

> "The shower of a pice prompted the last-minute use of World Wide Trevel and Pumy Sumple of Air Advantage, which faciled the sharpes of Savarisian alongly discussed." At 22.

As explained above, the plus was to use World Wide Travel and Phuny Sample; there was no absence of a plus. Because of the need for confidentiality and the need for quick action, reliance on these with when we had experience seemed the only rational doctrion. Having performed superby is the exampling and in light of our need for immediate travel agent support - due to the pressure for immediate action from several quarters - we decided the plan would include short-serm reliance on World Wide Travel.

I would have much preferred to have my suff carefully review the Travel Office and make a detailed bunness plan for the new fiscal year. This proved impossible, though, when the pressure for action from the First Lady and you became investible. This demand for immediate action forced are to accept hastly formulated plans for hasty, inadvisable action.

"The process should have been handled in a more careful, deliberate fashior, Before any decision was made, the Terrel Office supployant should have been inzerviewed and other White House staff who understood the operations of the Terrel Office should have been designed and resided for implementation before any structure should have been designed and resided for implementation before any structure should have been designed and resided for implementation before any structure should have been designed and resided for implementation before say action was haber. Throughout, the process should have tracted the Travel Office amployees with semilivity and decesty." At 22.

As stated above, I not would have much prefetted to have my staff carefully review the Travel Office and formulate a detailed butiness plan for the new fiscal year. This proved impossible, though, when pressure for action became interistible. If forced me to accept hashily formulated plans for hany, inadvisable action.

CONCLUSION

I think all this makes clear that the Travel Office incident was driven by pressures for action originating outside my Office. If I thought I could have resisted those pressures, undertaken more considered action, and remained in the White House, I certainly would have done so. But after the Secret Service incident, it was made clear that I must more forcefully and immediately follow the direction of the First Family. I was convinced that failure to take immediate action in this case would have been directly contrary to the wishes of the First Lady, something that would not have been tolerated in light of the Secret Service incident earlier in the year.

For this reason, I was forced to undertake the Travel Office reorganization without a business plan firmly in hand - something I had never before done in years as a management consultant, where such plans were my business.

All failings outlined in the Podena Management Review were either mistaken and groundless criticism, or were based on actions dictated by the need for instant action. This reorganization required more careful review, but in this case that possibility was foreclosed. Delaying action was beyond my control.

DECLARATION OF GARY W. ALDRICH

I, Gary W. Aldrich, wish to make the following statement:

1. I am a twenty-five (25) year veteran Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). For the last five years of my FBI career (1990 - 1995) I was assigned to the White House where I performed background checks on White House personnel.

2. I have personal knowledge of the matters attested to herein.

3. On August 11, 1993, Craig Livingstone requested that I meet him in the White House Office of Personnel Security (OPS). Livingstone ordered the staff out of the office and took me into the office security vault, where he closed the door to insure absolute privacy. We discussed the tragic death of Deputy White House Counsel Vince Foster and the existing personnel security vulnerabilities, shortcomings and backlogs, among other topics. Livingstone complained that he lacked credibility and authority in trying to institute a serious, legitimate security program within the White House. I offered to speak with White House Counsel Bernard Nussbaum to help improve security. Livingstone looked incredulous at the mention of Nussbaum, and dismissed the notion of speaking with him. Livingstone then stated that we should talk to "Hillary." I was flabbergasted at his suggestion, and worried that I might be jeopardizing my FBI career by discussing such matters with Mrs. Clinton. Livingstone assured me that "Hillary" was the one to talk to about security matters. Livingstone said that he would be speaking with Hillary Clinton that evening aboard Air Force One. He stated that Mrs. Clinton would understand the risk I
