Ms. Anderson, did you ever receive any feedback 0 from Mr. Livingstone or others that your performance at the Office of Personnel Security was in any way less than fully satisfactory?

No, never.

Did you yourself feel as if your performance on the job was less than fully satisfactory?

Α No.

Mr. Livingstone has stated that he believed that you were a very hard worker during the campaign, but when you arrived at the Office of Personnel Security, you suffered what he called burnout and that this may have negatively affected your performance.

Do you think this is an accurate description of your performance at the Office of Personnel Security in anything you may have -- which may have affected your performance?

MR. SRERE: To put that question into context, not knowing exactly what Mr. Livingstone said, there is a date -- a question of timing here. When he said burnout -- I don't know. Did he say burnout February 1993 or did he say burnout August 1994?

MR. HIRSHLAND: Well, I don't believe\ he specified, but let me ask the question both ways, to make it clear for the record.

1 pay raise. 2 Was this conversation after the decision you made 3 in June of 1994 that you personally wanted to leave 4 politics? 5 Α Yes. During the conversation that you did have with Mr. 6 7 Livingstone a month before you left, you said you came to a 8 mutual agreement that you were not happy doing the work you 9 were doing. Did he suggest in any way that your unhappiness 10 with your present work situation affected your work? No, he did not. As I stated before, he never said 11 12 anything to that effect or to lead me to believe that I had 13 been--my performance had been unsatisfactory. 14 Q So, as far as you knew, when you left the White House, you left on completely good terms and your work had 15 16 been completely satisfactory? 17 Α Yes. 18 Can you tell us what you have been doing since Q 19 leaving the White House professionally or in politics, 20 anything of that sort? 21 Α I've been doing nothing in politics. I've been 22 doing event management.

Atlanta Olympic Committee.

Okay. Are there any other events that you've been

I just recently finished working with the 1996

best of my ability and heard no complaints at all at the whole time I was there.

- Q From anybody?
- A . From anyone.
- Q Could you elaborate on when you made your decision to leave the Office of Personnel Security and why?
- A I believe I stated earlier that I made the decision in June of 1994 because I decided politics was not the field I wanted to make my career in.
- Q And did you feel at the time as if it was your decision to leave, or did you feel as if Mr. Livingstone in any way suggested that you should leave your job?
 - A In June of '94, it was my decision.
- Q At any point between--you actually left the Payroll, I understand, in September of '94?
 - A Uh-huh.
- Q Between June of '94 and September of '94, did you ever have any indication from Mr. Livingstone or anyone else that it was their belief that you should look for other work?
- A We had a conversation a month before I left that obviously I was not happy, not that my job had suffered or anything like that, but that I was not happy working, and I said yes. And he was--it was a mutual agreement that I would leave when I did so that Lisa could get my job with a Q Ms. Anderson, some people may suggest that there's a little bit of inconsistency between the desire in June of 1994 to no longer be involved in politics, and doing advance work up to a year later for Vice President Gore, can you describe why you were still doing advance work if you had kind of had enough of it?

- A I needed a paycheck.
- Q Okay. But at that time, you still--

A I still had no idea what I wanted to do at that time, and I needed a way to pay the rent.

Q That's certainly a legitimate explanation to me.

When you--going back to the time period when you first started at the White House, we talked about having discussions with Ms. Gemmell and working in the same office with her.

When you actually had discussions with her about your work and the work of the office generally--and I believe you said in August of '93 is when you had the most lengthy discussions--do you recall keeping notes of the discussions?

- A Yes.
- Q Do you know where those notes now are?
- A I have no earthly idea.
- Q Do you remember whether you would have taken them from the White House when you left or whether they would working on? 1 No, not that you all would recognize. Just local. Are there other -- can you just provide us with some 3 detail as to the local--type of local events you've been 4 5 working on? Why? I mean--6 MR. SRERE: It's nonpolitical. 7 It's nonpolitical, and I mean, they 8 THE WITNESS: were a bunch of little one-day things. 9 BY MR. HIRSHLAND: 10 So you have not been involved in any political 11 work or campaign work since leaving the White House? 12 Α Since leaving the White House, I did advance for 13 Vice President Gore. 14 15 0 When? Immediately leaving the White House, upon leaving 16 Α the White House, and I did it for about a year. 17 So this would have been between September of '94 18 and September of '95? 19 Primarily that fall and that winter. 20 Can you just describe a little bit what kind of 21 advance work you did? 22 I would go on the road, and I would be part of the 23 advance team to set up whatever needed to be set up for the 24 Vice President's arrival in that city. 25
