We know that the Speaker can't guarantee a plane for them, but he would like to encourage your consideration as the plane situation for April begins to develop.

Martha,

Congressman Pence would like to request permission to lead a CODEL to Iraq. Specifically leaving on the evening of May 4th and returning before votes on May 9, 2006. During this trip he would also like to visit Greece and Turkey. He would like to request the support of the Army.

I am making similar preliminary contact with the Army and the IR committee requesting the same, but understand from previous experience all Iraq CODEL requests go through the Speaker's office before we can move forward.

Thank you for your time and effort, I look forward to hearing from you soon.

I am in the process of making plans for Mr. Shays' next trip to Iraq.

He would like to visit during the week of April 17th, preferably on the days of April 18-20 (3 days in country).

He is not requesting mil air. We will be using commercial aircraft for our trip.

Rep Jim Marshall has been invited to accompany Mr. Shays.

Staff will include myself, one (minority staff) and/or two other staff members and a mil escort.

However, we obviously need to fill in the other blanks for more complete report to Scott Palmer please by indicating whereabouts of other aircraft Chris has listed below.

Thank you, [REDACTED]

Given this information (and also that I was told yesterday that Oxley and Enzi were appealing to DOD and VPOTUS to overturn decision to deny both milair during Easter recess), I see our semi-annual milair inventory discussion with Palmer. Can someone do a check to find out how the following will be allocated:

4xC-32 89 AW
2xC-40 89 AW
3xC-40 201 AW DC ANG
3xC-9C Scott AFB

And when new Scott AFB C-40s come on line.

Thank you.

The Speaker has dramatically changed his itinerary for April trip - now planning following:

April 7-18

Depart Washington

Overnight in Japan (either at Misawa or Okinawa) Bangkok, Thailand (three nights) New Delhi, India (one night) Jaipur, India (two nights) Bratislava, Slovakia (three nights)

That's the plan as of today, 3/22/06 .....

AF is reworking flight times for us - thanks for your assistance.

I'm a bit fearful that it hasn't sunk in yet that we have C-40 rather than C-32, so Scott may think we can do things we can't do (in terms of crew rest issues) - on the other hand we do have longer legs, so hopefully we can make him happy enough! Fingers crossed

Subject: RE: CODEL Burton Update

Janice, as we discussed, we are pursuing a larger aircraft for CODEL Burton's trip to Central America (6-9 May). We've taken the following steps:

- * Requested a large a/c from the 89th Airlift Wing (our primary CODEL supplier); they could not support without diverting assets from other trips.
- * The two large a/c available for CODELs are supporting the House and Senate trips to the US/Canada IPS (CODELs Manzullo and Crapo).
- * Requested that the trips combine, if possible. They can't as there are too many travellers for one aircraft.
- * We pursued a C-9 from the Air Force Reserves at Scott AFB. They cannot support either. Two of their three aircraft are in maintenance and one is being use for training to maintain crew currencies.
- * Our final solution, which is pending, is a request to the Navy to use one of their C-40 fleet rotation aircraft. They are checking availability and will advise us ASAP of their ability to support.
- * We have the G-5 available from 7-10 May and will hold that pending the outcome of these efforts.

We will continue to work this and will keep you advised of our results.

Matters

Ladies, we would like to schedule a briefing to Scott Palmer and yourselves to discuss the Reserve C-9 fleet at Scott AFB, the C-32 situation, and our look forward to summer recess.

We propose bringing the Wing Commander from 932nd and the Air Force office that manages our CODEL fleet. We're looking for opportunities during the week of May 8 or May 15.

Please let us know what works best for you.

Scott asked that I give you this heads up:

He has a very vivid memory from our last meeting (last year) that he was told the Scott AFB C-9Cs would be available (w/trained crews) by Easter this year.

He's also distressed about unavailability of C-32s .....

And as I mentioned to [REDACTED] I believe we are ready to get out of the Iraq travel coordination business unless there is some compelling reason not to do so.

Thanks, Martha

Tom, we have already made arrangements with CENTCOM to reserve your dates. We have the following set up and would recommend a stop in the Horn of Africa to visit our forces conducting counterterrorism operations:

2-3 Jul: Iraq
4 Jul: Horn of Africa
5-6 Jul: Afghanistan

Please let us know if you have a service preference so we can assign you an escort to begin detailed planning.

There have been several notes back and forth on this, but on the narrow issue of travel to Iraq on July 1, the committee is relinquishing its slot for the day, so July 1 can be a reset day to prepare for a July 2 and 3 codel to Iraq by the Majority Leader. These dates are the dates desired by Mr. Boehner and the committee would appreciate every effort be made to accommodate him and make his first visit to Iraq a productive one. To that end, a senior HASC member (Mr. Saxton) and a senior HASC staffer (Hawley) will be part of the delegation. Again, Mr. Boehner's desired dates in country are July 2 and 3. Thanks for your help.

Ex-U.S. Rep Gillespie V. Montgomery Dies

By JACK ELLIOTT JR., Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss. - Former Rep. Gillespie V. "Sonny" Montgomery, who during his 30 years in Congress pushed through a modernized GI Bill that boosted recruiting for the all-volunteer force, died Friday. He was 85.

Montgomery, who underwent surgery to correct a bowel obstruction in December, died at Jeff Anderson Regional Medical Center in his native Meridian after a lengthy illness, said Kyle Steward, the former congressman's spokesman. He had been hospitalized since May 7.

On Thursday, the House voted to name a national defense authorization bill in his honor.

A conservative Democrat, Montgomery represented an east-central Mississippi district in Congress from 1967 to 1997, and for 13 years chaired the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

He himself was a 35-year military veteran, serving in the Army in Europe during World War II, then returned to active duty during the Korean War as part of the National Guard. He retired from the Mississippi National Guard in 1980 with the rank of major general.

The GI Bill has existed in some form since 1944, when it was passed to provide education and other benefits for returning World War II veterans. It was modernized for a peacetime, volunteer force as the Montgomery GI Bill in 1984. Among other things, the Montgomery Bill was the first to offer education benefits to National Guard and Reserve personnel.

In a 1993 speech, Montgomery recalled the struggle to get the bill passed. He said that while all the GI bills have helped veterans readjust to civilian life, his has the added purpose of being "a tremendous incentive for bright young men and women to join our armed forces."

"Smart, motivated young men and women just weren't going into the military," he said.

He recalled telling an opponent of the bill during a late-night House-Senate conference that "if I had packaged this program like a missile, shaped it like a cone, filled it with gunpowder and stuck a fuse on it so it could blow up the world, it would pass this conference in a minute."

Montgomery won the day, and President Reagan signed the bill into law in October 1984.

Under the New GI Bill, veterans with two years of active service who contributed $1,200 of their own money were eligible to receive tuition payments of $300 a month for 36 months. The Army and Navy then kicked in an additional payment to bring the total benefits to roughly $17,000. The payments have been raised since then.

In a 1990 White House ceremony attended by Montgomery, the first President Bush, a good friend of Montgomery's, said the version enacted in 1984 was "an important component in the success of America's all-volunteer forces" and "among the most practical and cost-efficient programs ever devised."

During and after the Vietnam War, Montgomery made 14 trips to Southeast Asia to support the troops and then later to determine the fate of POW/MIAs.

In 1990, he was part of a congressional delegation that went to Korea to receive the bodies of five American servicemen killed in the Korean War in the early 1950s. The event was widely seen as a gesture by communist North Korea to improve relations with the United States.

"This is a historic occasion ... recognition for Americans who fought in Korea, recognition that has not come for 40 years," Montgomery said at the time.

Montgomery was also part of a largely Southern group of conservative Democrats, dubbed the Boll Weevils for the tiny beetle that devours cotton plants, who helped Republican President Reagan enact his economic agenda.

He helped establish the House Prayer Breakfast Group and was a faithful participant in the weekly gatherings for more than 35 years. In 2000, the House of Representatives named the meeting room in the U.S. Capitol used for the gatherings in his honor.

He first won the seat in 1966, first defeating three opponents in the Democratic primary, then two more in the general election. He succeeded Rep. Prentiss Walker, who ran for U.S. Senate.

He easily won 14 more terms, usually getting more than 80 percent of the vote. But over the years the district - overwhelmingly Democratic in the old days of the "Solid South" - became heavily Republican. Even Montgomery's winning total dropped to 68 percent in 1994 from 81 percent two years earlier. In 1996, a Republican, Chip Pickering, was elected to replace him.

Pickering paid tribute to him Friday, calling him "a Mississippi statesman with a 30-year dedication to our armed forces and veterans."

"His legacy of public service stretches across generations and across party lines and is a testimony to his vision of strong America that honors our commitments to military service," Pickering said.

Montgomery served under seven presidents and was particularly close to the first President Bush, a fellow congressman with him back in the late 1960s. Montgomery was a frequent visitor to the White House during his presidency and even spent Christmas holidays with the Bush family at Camp David, Md.

In 2005, Montgomery was one of 14 people awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor, by the second President Bush.

Born in Meridian in 1920, Montgomery joined the Army immediately after graduating from Mississippi State College (now University) in 1943. Serving in the European Theater during World War II, he won the Bronze Star for Valor and Legion of Merit.

Montgomery never married, and during his many travels always considered Meridian his true home.

"I've been active and have not walked away from Meridian. I plan to be buried here - but not yet," he said in 1999.

Montgomery operated a successful insurance business in Meridian before being elected to the Mississippi State Senate in 1956. He served in the Legislature for 10 years before being elected to Congress in 1966. Among his accomplishments in Jackson was creation of the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television.

Montgomery remained in Washington and operated a lobbying firm for several years after leaving Congress in 1997. He retired in 2004 and returned to Meridian.

In Jackson, the Veterans Affairs Hospital bears his name, and last year an Army gunnery range at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg was named for him.

Dear Rachel:

Ms. Granger's request of the Speaker regarding your potential travel with her CODEL to Iraq has been reviewed. I am writing to inform you and Ms. Granger that in keeping with longstanding policy the Speaker cannot authorize you to accompany the CODEL.

While we recognize that you may see this as a departure from past practice, I would hasten to add that when personal staff was authorized to travel with Ms. Granger previously, the delegation did NOT travel to Iraq, but rather to Jordan.

Due to the very strong feelings the Speaker has about not jeopardizing the safety or security of any House employee, he does not authorize personal staff to travel to Iraq. Consequently, the request must be denied.

While we understand the disappointment you and Ms. Granger feel, we do hope that you understand the decision is not made lightly.

Thank you for your patience and understanding - Martha

Margaret,

I understand that you are the point of contact for Members seeking approval from the Speaker to travel on military aircraft. Attached is a letter my boss is delivering to the Speaker's office today seeking approval to travel on Saturday, August 26 from Klamath Falls, OR to Hood River, OR on Oregon National Guard on Navy aircraft to attend the memorial service of a West Coast Navy Seal team member who was killed in action. As background, a Captain in the Oregon Guard (Captain Mike Brayvis) informed our office this weekend that they'll need that approval to fly, and once it comes they are ready to fly my boss. I have also left a message with Captain Earl Gay, head of the Congressional Travel Liaisons Office on the hill to make sure he was looped in to the request (202-225-7808). Should you have any questions, please don't hesitate to call me direct at 6-7337, however if I am not at my desk please dial "0" and ask for Blair Larkins.

Thank you very much for your help.

[REDACTED]

We have a Speaker mission going from Easton, MD returning to Illinois on Thursday.

The Speaker's office would like to return to Dekalb, IL instead of Aurora (the normal Speaker mission airport)

Dekalb (KDKB) has a Daylight operations only restriction (due to unknown obstacles) for the C-20. The land time would be 1555 with a 1500 T/O from MD, 45 min standard ground time would be a 1640 T/O for the crew to return home. Official Sunset is 1624.

The C-20 and crew would have to RON due to the daylight only restriction.

Aurora (KARR) does not have the restriction and is 14 air miles from Dekalb.

C-21s do not have the daylight only restriction.
