I heard from Billy late last week that there may have been 2 or 3 incidents in which an ATF agent (inexplicably) sent a CI, posing as a straw, into a store to make a purchase and then had the CI hand those guns off to a trafficker. That was the first I had heard of those incidents, and my understanding is that they had nothing to do with "Fast & Furious" but were part of some other investigation. Didn't want you to think I had left out what would have been a rather significant detail from my email of a couple of weeks ago.
