Pat,

Please remind Matt that the clarification I requested was that the information the reporter was seeking about [ATF] was available in the public record -- the Fast and Furious indictment, which repeatedly names [ATF] and a few other FFLs -- but that it pertained only to that case, not the broader spectrum of our gun cases. I did not comment on the record with this reporter. She called with specific questions about [ATF], which I assumed were being raised because of the December Washington Post story that talked about [ATF]. We discussed that story, but I told her that we did provide the information to the Post and I couldn't corroborate it, and that I didn't know who the most active gun sellers were in our other gun cases because I wasn't familiar with them (I was still relatively new). This phone call was conducted in mid-March. I think the clarification captures most of this, but might have lost a little in translation as well, so I wanted you to know what I remember saying to her and what I asked her to fix. Below is her email to me after our call where she requests an interview. I did not find a record of me responding to this request in writing, but we did not provide an interview.

Thanks, hope this is helpful,

Robbie

Hi Robert,

As we discussed over the phone today, I am working on a national multi-media project dealing with the trafficking of arms and I would like to obtain an interview with a specialist in your agency that can provide general comments on this issue. Some of the questions will be...the use of women as straw purchasers, the related offense for straw purchasers, and a general profile of the Arizona market for this illicit activity.

During the interview, we will not ask about specific cases or about "Fast and Furious", as you mentioned, you cannot comment on. The project is mainly an informative one about the illicit arms trade.

Regards,

Claudia Nunez, Reporter
La Opinion.
