Subject: 501(c)(4) statement

Here is current statement as requested:

The IRS has opened examinations of five donors who had not filed gift tax returns to determine if the donation were taxable gifts and if a gift tax return should have been filed. These examinations were started by employees of the Estate and Gift Tax Unit at the IRS as part of their increased efforts in the area of non-filing of gift and estate tax returns. These examinations are not part of a broader effort looking at donations to 501(c) 4s. All of the decisions involving these cases were made by career civil servants without any influence from anyone outside the IRS.
