

---

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, June 07, 2011 7:51 PM
To: GEORGE
Subject: Re: also...

Yeah, I totally agree on all that. Completely. Maybe I'm being too sensitive, but it felt a little bit in our little mtg at the end of the day that she was kind of on edge about it towards me personally. Again, maybe I'm being hyper sensitive.

Marie E. Harf
CIA Spokesperson

---

From: GEORGE [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, June 07, 2011 07:40 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: also...

No one's talking about the full-on CTC treatment. Just SOME CIA treatment at this stage. I don't think anyone disagrees that we should place most of our betting money on the Boal project at this point. We have to do our due diligence with others, and it doesn't hurt to establish stronger relationships with CAA and others even if their projects don't move forward.

---

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, June 07, 2011 07:34 PM
To: GEORGE [REDACTED]
Subject: also...

What is our colleague's obsession with Howard Blum? I know we don't "pick favorites" but it makes sense to get behind the winning horse... I am sure Imagine is talking about working with Howard, but Mark and Kathryn's movie is going to be the first and the biggest. It's got the most money behind it, and two Oscar winners on board.

It's just not a close call. We can certainly talk to Howard, but I don't think they should all get this kind of CTC treatment, that's all.

Marie E. Harf
Central Intelligence Agency
Media Spokesperson