Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Helen Kinlan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/9/

May 9, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Helen Kinlan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Erin Laughlin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/9

May 9, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Laughlin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ronda Brooks
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/

May 8, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ronda Brooks
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tina Bigdeli
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/8

May 8, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tina Bigdeli
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Frances Trainor
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/8

May 8, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Frances Trainor
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Stephen Nolan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/8

May 8, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stephen Nolan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Shannon
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/7

May 7, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Shannon
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/7

May 7, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.
I am the mother of a JEB Stuart HS student

Thank you,

Ms. Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Woolwine
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/7

May 7, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jessica Woolwine
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: JOSEPH CABUSH
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/7/

May 7, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Working daily with transgender students in FCPS, I have found that there is still ongoing discrimination and I would love to see FCPS take a leadership role in reducing the high risk of suicide among this population.

Thank you,

Mr. JOSEPH CABUSH
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: David McNiff
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/6/

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. David McNiff
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Christy Russo
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/6/

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christy Russo
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: [redacted] Sent:5/(
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and teachers deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As a transgender student, I can't honestly say that I feel safe at school, and furthermore, as someone who wants to be a teacher in the future, I feel that I will come to feel even less safe and will be even less open about being who I am. I beg you to create a space where students and educators don't have to feel the same way.

Thank you,

Miss [redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Judith Hines
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/(

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Judith Hines
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Bridget Duru
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/(

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Bridget Duru
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Laurie Lubsen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/6/

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laurie Lubsen
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Chris Fowler
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/6

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Fowler
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: kathleen wilson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/6

May 6, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Wilson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Say
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Say
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jhumur Chaudhuri
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jhumur Chaudhuri
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Matt La Chance
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matt La Chance
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Gerrald Gantt
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Gerrald Gantt
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rolf Taylor
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolf Taylor
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Augustus Vranizan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Augustus Vranizan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sophie Fowler
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sophie Fowler
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Anne Brossy
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Anne Brossy
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Evans Evan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Evans Evan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Stephanie Bomar
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Stephanie Bomar
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Jebian
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

The statistics are sobering. The rates of homelessness, abuse, depression and suicide among transgender youth are significantly higher than for any other marginalized group. We have a long way to go before these children feel safe, welcome and understood in our homes, churches and schools. I urge you to take this important step forward.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Jebian
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Hernaldo J Castaneda
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hernaldo J Castaneda
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: MIGUEL LARA
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. MIGUEL LARA
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rosalie Dncan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Rosalie Dncan

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Melissa Marote
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Melissa Marote
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Duncan Cooper
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/!

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duncan Cooper
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Richard Owens
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Owens
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Lisa Riddle
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is not about personal beliefs, it is about education. Students cannot learn if they are being bullied and harassed. We need to ensure that all students feel safe enough at our schools to learn.

Thank you,

Ms. Lisa Riddle
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Trish Hustvedt
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sherry Alexander
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sherry Alexander
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Elizabeth McDonough
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jason Endicott
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jason Endicott
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Julie Fergusson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Fergusson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amanda Albin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Albin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Gina Richard
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kristin Pradko
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Kristin Pradko
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Timothy Klipp
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Timothy Klipp
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Patricia Ann Liske
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Patricia Ann Liske
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Anne Duncan-Maietta
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Duncan-Maietta
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mark Evans
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Thank you for the work you have already done to make Fairfax County Public Schools safe for all students and teachers. I ask that you continue this by making the aforementioned changes.

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Evans
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Vera Horton
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Vera Horton
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amy Rothstein
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amy Rothstein

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jacky Longwell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jacky Longwell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Barry Greenhill
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Cheryl Baird
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Cheryl Baird
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tia Rose
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tia Rose
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amy Gonzalez
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Amy Gonzalez
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Denise Shafer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Denise Shafer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Janet Dwire
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Dwire
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jennifer Riddle
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Riddle
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Paul Macomber
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Paul Macomber
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Helen C. Kyle
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Helen C. Kyle
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Adam Sackett
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Sackett
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ilham Trabelsi
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5

May 5, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ilham Trabelsi
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kayleigh Buenaga
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I'm going to use the words of Andrea Lafferty, who is so avidly campaigning against this proposition. "Children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment in which to learn". Yes, all children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment to be educated in. This would allow children and adolescents who are questioning or actively changing their gender identity the protection they deserve. Schools are already hostile enough, why don't we at least give these children and teenagers a less threatening and protected environment in which to learn and brighten their future

Thank you,

Ms. Kayleigh Buenaga
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Elizabeth Gibson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elizabeth Gibson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Debra Steppel
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Debra Steppel
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amanda Walker
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Walker
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: George Little
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. George Little
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Louise Perini
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Louise Perini
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Peter Reynolds
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Peter Reynolds
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Klare Keenan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Klare Keenan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Randall Casey
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Randall Casey
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Annette Puente
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Annette Puente
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Robbie Morris
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Robbie Morris
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Bethany Cardone
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Bethany Cardone
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Eric Papula
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Eric Papula
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Anthony Bankhead
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Anthony Bankhead
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Janette Dunder
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Janette Dunder
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: John Richards
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. John Richards
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Alexis Garretson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Alexis Garretson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: John Richards
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. John Richards
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Foote
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Foote
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Liz Dyer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Liz Dyer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kate York
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4,

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate York
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Leslie Plummer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leslie Plummer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Elle Colen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elle Colen
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: jennifer Brooks
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We must create a safe, hate-free environment for our children. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Brooks
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Alex Kaufman
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alex Kaufman
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ray Mims
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ray Mims
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kate Hough
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Hough
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kathleen Darrah
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Darrah
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Michael Palmer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Specifying protection for Transgendered students reinforces for all our children the importance of tolerance for those who may be different. As in the Rogers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" song about racism "You've Got to be Carefully Taught" applies here. Fairfax County should carefullly teach our young people not to hate and to practice tolerance. Life will go much smoother for them and for the rest of us if Fairfax County steps up and leads the way on these important issues.

Thank you,

Mr. Michael Palmer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Douglas Firman
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Firman
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Emily Britt
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We are an FCPS family and this is important to us. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Britt
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Diann Presley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diann Presley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Dianna Belman
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dianna Belman
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Gwen Doddy Lowit
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gwen Doddy Lowit
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jodie Langford
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jodie Langford
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Asma Rasheed
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Asma Rasheed
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Veronica Skov
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Noblesse oblige defend the weak and the innocent. Transgender students need protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Veronica Skov
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jeannette Mulherin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jeannette Mulherin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: danielle faust
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Maggie Godbold
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maggie Godbold
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Leigh Park
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leigh Park

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Lauren Vogel
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lauren Vogel
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: B E
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. B E
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kevin Nguyen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kevin Nguyen
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ron Gilliland
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ron Gilliland
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Danielle Lapalme
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as a graduate of Hayfield secondary this is very important to me.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Lapalme
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Thomas Powell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Thomas Powell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Sapone
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a public school system, it is your duty to protect and ensure safe environments for ALL of your students regardless of any prejudices that may be held by executives and conservative parents.

Thank you,

Ms. Sarah Sapone
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Harriet Becker
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Harriet Becker
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Dana Krauskopf
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Krauskopf
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Zainab Barry
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Zainab Barry

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: danielle faust
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rebecca Russell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Russell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Erica Kim
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is a no-brainer. Protect these very vulnerable children, please!

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Kim
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mary Hoffman
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. MARY HOFFMAN
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Heather Hibbs
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Heather Hibbs
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Emily Berry
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Berry
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kate Krawczel
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Krawczel
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sharon Dymowski
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sharon Dymowski
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mandy DeVine
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mandy DeVine
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Matthew McCartin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matthew McCartin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Michele Beard
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michele Beard
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tona Brown
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tona Brown
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Margot Mcmanus
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margot Mcmanus
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jayne Byrnes
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amber Deardorff Gilson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amber Deardorff Gilson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Peggy Woods
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Peggy Woods
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Deirdre McQuillin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Deirdre McQuillin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Htet Wrigley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Htet Wrigley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jayne Byrnes
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Dana Davis
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Davis
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Richard Wegmer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Wegmer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katharine Dickson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Dickson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jules Trapp
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jules Trapp
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Whitney Olson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Whitney Olson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amy Farris
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Please protect and embrace our kids! All of our kids!!!

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Farris
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kerry Wingell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kerry Wingell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Laura Lawson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura Lawson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kitty Smith
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Kitty Smith
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Douglas Hansen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Hansen

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Michelle Fremen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle Fremen
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rebecca Green
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Rebecca Green
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Craig Coughlin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Craig Coughlin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Marisa Sheffield
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Marisa Sheffield

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Karen Barr
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Karen Barr
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Julie Edwards
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Edwards
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Megan Harper
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Megan Harper
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jennifer Butts
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Butts
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Aaron Hood
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and educators deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Aaron Hood
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Whittington
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Whittington
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Barry Greenhill
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Pelumi Sholagbade
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a person who attends a school in Fairfax County, this cause is very near and dear to my heart.

Thank you,

Miss Pelumi Sholagbade

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jenaca Vargas
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jenaca Vargas
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Anne Morgan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. I am a mother of former (graduated) FCPS students who wants every student to feel as safe as mine did. Growing up is a difficult time, and growing up obviously different is even more challenging. Let's support these kids!

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Morgan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Zatko
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Zatko
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tessa Porciello
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tessa Porciello
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: TJ Holland
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. TJ Holland
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Austin Cox
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally. Transgender people are no exception.

Thank you,

Mr. Austin Cox
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katharine Campos
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Campos
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Christine McLean
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christine McLean
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Vincent Worthington
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Vincent Worthington
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Teresa Kim
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Teresa Kim

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jo Louise Klein
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jo Louise Klein
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ziba Pirnia
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Ziba Pirnia
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: William Hall
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. William Hall
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ana Mendez
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Mendez
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Walter Krushinski
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

These students NEED to feel safe; they DESERVE to feel safe. Please make the right decision.

Thank you,

Mr. Walter Krushinski
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Arlene Black
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Arlene Black
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Hayde Arp
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hayde Arp
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Stefan Ries
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stefan Ries
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jordan Small
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jordan Small
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Virginia Reed
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Virginia Reed
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Laura LaVertu
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura LaVertu
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Seul Rhee
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Seul Rhee
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sheridan Johnson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheridan Johnson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Emma Afzal
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Emma Afzal
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katya Belyayeva
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As someone with many friends who are both teachers as well as students in FCPS, I hope you establish these protections and carry on the reputation FCPS as the nation's top district for public education.

Thank you,

Mr. Katya Belyayeva
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Cory Hall
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This should include transgender students and teachers to ensure that they have the same protection as other students in the realm of harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Cory Hall
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ana Padron
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Padron
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Hazel Mcleod
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Hazel Mcleod
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: evan Braswell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. evan Braswell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Carlos Lopez
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Carlos Lopez
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Deborah DeVore
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Transgender students do not choose to be transgender. They deserve the right to be who they are, and to be safe from bullying. Transgender youth are often at greater risk of being bullied and discrimination. Please provide them with needed protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Deborah DeVore
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Elizabeth Greco
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth Greco
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Acadia Gribble
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Acadia Gribble
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sparks Lowry
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Sparks Lowry
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kathiegong Williams
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathiegong Williams
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ryan Salisbury
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ryan Salisbury
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mackenzie Aylward
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mackenzie Aylward
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Falak Ojjeh
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Falak Ojjeh
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Emily Heiden
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I have taught transgender students at both the high school and college level, and can tell you as an educator that it is essential that a school's administration serve as both a model of how to treat all people as well as a first line of defense against discrimination. I care about ALL of my students, and those who identify as transgender are no different. Such students need extra protection against the social stigmas they're already dealing with. Please exemplify compassion, practice empathy, and act as a role model in this decision.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Heiden
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Esther Park
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Esther Park
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Amy Angel
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Angel
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rachel Goldsmith
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Goldsmith

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Diana Yglesias
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diana Yglesias
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Del Hardesty
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a resident of Fairfax County, I want all students to have safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Del Hardesty
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rachel Kline
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Kline
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rolando Valdes
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolando Valdes
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Margo Kujat
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margo Kujat
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Janet Fitch
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Please Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County school graduate myself, I expect Fairfax County to be on the leading edge in providing a safe and secure environment for all students and educators consistent with the US Department of Education guidance to include "gender identity and expression" in our non-discrimination protections. Thank you for your time and support to this important proposed change.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Fitch
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Gianna Sheffield
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gianna Sheffield
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Dave Mcharg
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Dave Mcharg
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jane Anne Gleason
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jane Anne Gleason
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jewel Cardwell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jewel Cardwell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: jennifer richards
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This is a very personal issue to me as [redacted] attends a Fairfax County Public School and has two very close friends who are transgender. We have welcomed them into our home and call them by the pronouns they identify with. The stories that [redacted] has told us regarding name calling and bullying to these friends of [redacted] has caused many tear filled discussions of what [redacted] can do to help them- this is a huge burden for a teenager to feel they are taking on alone. This is an issue that the school must take on and embrace and care for every student, no matter how they identify as a gender. I love these children and it breaks my heart to see how much it hurts them and their friends when they are not seen for who they really are and how they identify. Please PLEASE add protections for them.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Richards
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katherine Shockley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As an educator myself, I struggle to ensure that all of my students feel safe without any support from school bylaws.

Thank you,

Miss Katherine Shockley

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Asha Jones
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Asha Jones
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kailey Kefi
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kailey Kefi
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Andrea Berger
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Andrea Berger
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Connor White
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Connor White
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: trey eckels
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. trey eckels
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: kristen campbell
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County resident, this issue matters to me and my family!

Thank you,

Ms. Kristen Campbell
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katie Busch
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Katie Busch
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: April Medina
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. April Medina
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: brooke kane
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Brooke Kane
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mary Lee Mcintyre
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. Can we expect some positive action on this issue from the School Board?

Thank you,

Mrs. Mary Lee Mcintyre
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Duane Ludwig
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duane Ludwig
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Reiad Nazzal
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Reiad Nazzal
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Shannon Romulus
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve to have the chance to be true to themselves and that should be celebrated at all levels of discipline.

Thank you,

Miss Shannon Romulus
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Findley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As a parent of a current Fairfax County School District kindergartener, this issue is an important one for me.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Findley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Margaret Cortezi
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Margaret Cortezi
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Forrest Hirsh
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Forrest Hirsh
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Lili Crowley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lili Crowley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ashley America
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ashley America
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tiffany Nguyen
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tiffany Nguyen
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jamilah Suarez
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jamilah Suarez
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Robert Price
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is self evident that students in an environment that is welcoming and accepting of them is one where those students can be successful. The primary role of schools is to educate students. As such, schools should undertake all means necessary to deliver an exceptional education. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Price
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Nicolas Martin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Nicolas Martin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Cheryl Zellmer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Cheryl Zellmer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Erica Marros
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Marros
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Michael Seltzer
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Michael Seltzer
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Christa Dodoo
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christa Dodoo
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Anna Dinh
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anna Dinh
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Pamela Larson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Larson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Colleen Naseem
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Colleen Naseem
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Bonnie Hobbs
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Bonnie Hobbs
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Maria Gargano
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Maria Gargano
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Kaplan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

While I believe that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment, since I am the parent of children who attend Fairfax County Public Schools I think it is particularly important for my kids to see that position overtly supported by their school system.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Kaplan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Melissa Das
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Melissa Das
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Chris Perkins
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Perkins
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kellie Burke
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kellie Burke
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: James Langley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. James Langley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Tami Palacky
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tami Palacky
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Baker
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Baker
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jonathan Flowers
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jonathan Flowers
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Maria-Paula Barahona
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maria-Paula Barahona
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Noah Strike
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Noah Strike
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Raul Ortega
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Raul Ortega
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Nicole Martin
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Nicole Martin
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Ardelle Mbita
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Ardelle Mbita
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Crystal Williams
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Crystal Williams
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Lorraine Sheffield
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Lorraine Sheffield
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Adam Noor
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Noor
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rosanne DeLuca
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rosanne DeLuca
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Clarice Wise
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Clarice Wise
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Karen Weinberger
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Karen Weinberger
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Alexis Sanchez
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as someone who went to Fairfax County schools all my life I know first hand how important this is. Our student need a safe place to grow into themselves. Schools should protect their students.

Thank you,

Miss Alexis Sanchez
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Erin Mooney
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Mooney
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Claudia Moore
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Claudia Moore
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jennifer Tulo
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Tulo
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Sheri Lemon
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheri Lemon
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Pamela Gilbert
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Gilbert
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Richard Cogan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Michelle Stjohn
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle StJohn
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Margaret Brkic
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margaret Brkic
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Kate Law
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Law
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Senseney Marshall
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Senseney Marshall
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: ANNE BURKE
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. ANNE BURKE
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Richard Cogan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Colleen Neumann
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Colleen Neumann

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Herman Ayayo
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Herman Ayayo
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jessica Salazar
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Salazar

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: José Kiper
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. José Kiper
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Jen Salierno
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jen Salierno
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Robert Siegel
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Siegel
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Caroline Mccormack
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Caroline Mccormack
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Rebecca Bunch
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Bunch
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Taffany Bickley
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Taffany Bickley
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Loan Withrow
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Loan Withrow
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Katen Milliken
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katen Milliken
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Erica Fremont
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Fremont
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Susan Mckinney
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Susan Mckinney

[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Geri Falek
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Geri Falek
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mohammad Khan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject:Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent:5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mohammad Khan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Angela Judy
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators

Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Angela Judy
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Edward Mulligan
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Edward Mulligan
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

Email

From: Mike Robinson
To: Evans, Sandy (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Sent: 5/4

May 4, 2015

Sandy Evans

Dear Evans,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mike Robinson
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Angela Judy
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:48 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Angela Judy
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5228

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mohammad Khan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:48 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mohammad Khan
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-2244

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Edward Mulligan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Edward Mulligan
[redacted].
22153, VA 22152

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mike Robinson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mike Robinson
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-4858

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Geri Falek
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Geri Falek
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1312

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Susan Mckinney
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:49 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Susan Mckinney
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1701

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katen Milliken
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katen Milliken
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1969

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Taffany Bickley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Taffany Bickley
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1883

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheri Lemon
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheri Lemon
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-4499

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Siegel
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Siegel
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6868

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Fremont
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Fremont
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Bunch
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Bunch
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3938

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jen Salierno
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jen Salierno
[redacted]
Savannah, GA 31406-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Claudia Moore
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Claudia Moore
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1203

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Caroline Mccormack
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Caroline Mccormack
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of ANNE BURKE
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. ANNE BURKE
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2565

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Loan Withrow
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Loan Withrow
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1447

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Gilbert
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Gilbert
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1915

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Salazar
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Salazar
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1427

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexis Sanchez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as someone who went to Fairfax County schools all my life I know first hand how important this is. Our student need a safe place to grow into themselves. Schools should protect their students.

Thank you,

Miss Alexis Sanchez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-5293

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Weinberger
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Karen Weinberger
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-5311

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Brkic
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margaret Brkic
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-3110

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Neumann
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Colleen Neumann
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3725

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Clarice Wise
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Clarice Wise
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1121

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle StJohn
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle StJohn
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1534

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of José Kiper
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. José Kiper
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Cogan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Tulo
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Tulo
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3520

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Herman Ayayo
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Herman Ayayo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erin Mooney
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Mooney
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2818

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Law
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Law
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Senseney Marshall
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Senseney Marshall
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosanne DeLuca
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rosanne DeLuca
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2184

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lorraine Sheffield
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Lorraine Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Noah Strike
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Noah Strike
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Noor
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Noor
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1830

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicole Martin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Nicole Martin
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4406

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Raul Ortega
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Raul Ortega
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4208

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christa Dodoo
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christa Dodoo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Casey
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Casey
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2409

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Crystal Williams
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Crystal Williams
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-4412

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michael Seltzer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Michael Seltzer
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8322

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tami Palacky
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tami Palacky
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lili Crowley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lili Crowley
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2942

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria-Paula Barahona
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maria-Paula Barahona
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2421

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Das
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Melissa Das
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-1801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jonathan Flowers
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jonathan Flowers
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1631

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria Gargano
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Maria Gargano
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3220

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Naseem
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Colleen Naseem
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-3635

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ardelle Mbita
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Ardelle Mbita
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-0243

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Price
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is self evident that students in an environment that is welcoming and accepting of them is one where those students can be successful. The primary role of schools is to educate students. As such, schools should undertake all means necessary to deliver an exceptional education. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Price
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2042

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3206

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mary Lee Mcintyre
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. Can we expect some positive action on this issue from the School Board?

Thank you,

Mrs. Mary Lee Mcintyre
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-4828

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Marros
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Marros
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7944

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Reiad Nazzal
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Reiad Nazzal
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-5167

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Shannon Romulus
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve to have the chance to be true to themselves and that should be celebrated at all levels of discipline.

Thank you,

Miss Shannon Romulus
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1509

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Larson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Larson
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1234

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Baker
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Baker
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-7126

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Cortezi
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Margaret Cortezi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1876

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolas Martin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Nicolas Martin
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3138

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Findley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As a parent of a current Fairfax County School District kindergartener, this issue is an important one for me.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Findley
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ashley America
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:21 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ashley America
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6555

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kailey Kefi
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kailey Kefi
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Brown
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Brown
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Fitch
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Please Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County school graduate myself, I expect Fairfax County to be on the leading edge in providing a safe and secure environment for all students and educators consistent with the US Department of Education guidance to include "gender identity and expression" in our non-discrimination protections. Thank you for your time and support to this important proposed change.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Fitch
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-3528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Shannon
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 5:13:48 PM

May 7, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Shannon
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-4313

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Austin Cox
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally. Transgender people are no exception.

Thank you,

Mr. Austin Cox
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erin Laughlin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Saturday, May 09, 2015 1:18:14 PM

May 9, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Laughlin
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3157

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Forrest Hirsh
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Forrest Hirsh
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7344

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Foote
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Foote
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22302-1615

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kerry Wingell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kerry Wingell
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of MIGUEL LARA
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:10:12 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. MIGUEL LARA
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22046-7364

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christy Russo
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 10:12:28 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christy Russo
[redacted]
Ocala, FL 34470-5355

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Eric Papula
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Eric Papula
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-1926

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Helen Kinlan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Saturday, May 09, 2015 10:18:44 PM

May 9, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Helen Kinlan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2012

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tiffany Nguyen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tiffany Nguyen
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1091

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stephen Nolan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 4:44:56 AM

May 8, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stephen Nolan
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hernaldo J Castaneda
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:39:43 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hernaldo J Castaneda
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-7427

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jenaca Vargas
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jenaca Vargas
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-4801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of David McNiff
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 10:42:25 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. David McNiff
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-3612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle Fremen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle Fremen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2466

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tona Brown
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tona Brown
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Barr
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Karen Barr
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-2817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of JOSEPH CABUSH
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 11:13:42 AM

May 7, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Working daily with transgender students in FCPS, I have found that there is still ongoing discrimination and I would love to see FCPS take a leadership role in reducing the high risk of suicide among this population.

Thank you,

Mr. JOSEPH CABUSH
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-3246

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Andrea Berger
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Andrea Berger
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3514

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Frances Trainor
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 7:45:20 AM

May 8, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Frances Trainor
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3838

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Jebian
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 3:09:53 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

The statistics are sobering. The rates of homelessness, abuse, depression and suicide among transgender youth are significantly higher than for any other marginalized group. We have a long way to go before these children feel safe, welcome and understood in our homes, churches and schools. I urge you to take this important step forward.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Jebian
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2306

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anthony Bankhead
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Anthony Bankhead
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1124

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tina Bigdeli
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 9:45:48 AM

May 8, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tina Bigdeli
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2943

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jules Trapp
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jules Trapp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1837

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of John Richards
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. John Richards
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-3178

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Campos
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Campos
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of trey eckels
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. trey eckels
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4673

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stephanie Bomar
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 4:09:45 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Stephanie Bomar
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3033

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janette Dunder
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Janette Dunder
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-6629

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Vincent Worthington
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Vincent Worthington
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1954

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Kaplan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

While I believe that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment, since I am the parent of children who attend Fairfax County Public Schools I think it is particularly important for my kids to see that position overtly supported by their school system.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Kaplan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1343

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Evans Evan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 5:09:51 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Evans Evan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20164-1341

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Davis
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Davis
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katherine Shockley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As an educator myself, I struggle to ensure that all of my students feel safe without any support from school bylaws.

Thank you,

Miss Katherine Shockley
[redacted]
Meadows of Dan, VA 24120-4410

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Brossy
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 6:09:56 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Anne Brossy
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1827

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexis Garretson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Alexis Garretson
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-3716

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Dickson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Dickson
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4131

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of TJ Holland
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. TJ Holland
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-1947

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Wegmer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Wegmer
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Liz Dyer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Liz Dyer
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6604

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sophie Fowler
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:10:13 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sophie Fowler
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2302

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of James Langley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. James Langley
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-5419

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Zatko
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:23 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3705

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michele Beard
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michele Beard
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bethany Cardone
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:23 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Bethany Cardone
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-2304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kellie Burke
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:32 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kellie Burke
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2426

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Augustus Vranizan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:10:16 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Augustus Vranizan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20165-5180

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Megan Harper
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:23 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Megan Harper
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5346

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jayne Byrnes
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-3218

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Annette Puente
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Annette Puente
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Perkins
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Perkins
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kaelan Brown
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:13 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kaelan Brown
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22204-4332

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robbie Morris
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:36 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Robbie Morris
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1031

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolf Taylor
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:15 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolf Taylor
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-2053

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duane Ludwig
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:36 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duane Ludwig
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Htet Wrigley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Htet Wrigley
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6540

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Whittington
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Whittington
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gerrald Gantt
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:10:14 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Gerrald Gantt
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5372

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Butts
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Butts
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3245

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Klare Keenan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Klare Keenan
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1634

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Brooke Kane
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Brooke Kane
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4232

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deirdre McQuillin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Deirdre McQuillin
[redacted]
Saint Paul, MN 55106-4214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristen Campbell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County resident, this issue matters to me and my family!

Thank you,

Ms. Kristen Campbell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2609

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Edwards
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Edwards
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Peggy Woods
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Peggy Woods
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22312-3116

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matt La Chance
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:41 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matt La Chance
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3962

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Peter Reynolds
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:45 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Peter Reynolds
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3506

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katie Busch
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:41 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Katie Busch
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-2850

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Louise Perini
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Louise Perini
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3506

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margot Mcmanus
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margot Mcmanus
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1814

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Say
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:40:25 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Say
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3264

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Green
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Rebecca Green
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20010-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Randall Casey
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Randall Casey
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-3920

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Zellmer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Cheryl Zellmer
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2271

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jhumur Chaudhuri
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:40:46 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jhumur Chaudhuri
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2519

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jayne Byrnes
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-3218

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Craig Coughlin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Craig Coughlin
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3653

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amber Deardorff Gilson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amber Deardorff Gilson
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-6003

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of George Little
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. George Little
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1022

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Douglas Hansen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Hansen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Asha Jones
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:45 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Asha Jones
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathleen Wilson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 8:11:04 AM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Wilson
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1130

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bonnie Hobbs
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Bonnie Hobbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2560

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Judy Conn
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 8:41:07 AM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Judy Conn
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4526

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sharon Dymowski
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sharon Dymowski
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3248

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Walker
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:27 AM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Walker
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Marisa Sheffield
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Marisa Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Debra Steppel
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:54 AM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Debra Steppel
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4833

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Fowler
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 9:41:19 AM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Fowler
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1702

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Farris
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Please protect and embrace our kids! All of our kids!!!

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Farris
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3211

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mandy DeVine
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mandy DeVine
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2920

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of April Medina
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. April Medina
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8378

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura Lawson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura Lawson
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Gibson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:30 AM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elizabeth Gibson
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4668

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Berry
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Berry
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-4230

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laurie Lubsen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 11:49:00 AM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laurie Lubsen
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2926

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Connor White
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Connor White
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2564

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Whitney Olson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Whitney Olson
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2044

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kayleigh Buenaga
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:57 AM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I'm going to use the words of Andrea Lafferty, who is so avidly campaigning against this proposition. "Children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment in which to learn". Yes, all children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment to be educated in. This would allow children and adolescents who are questioning or actively changing their gender identity the protection they deserve. Schools are already hostile enough, why don't we at least give these children and teenagers a less threatening and protected environment in which to learn and brighten their future

Thank you,

Ms. Kayleigh Buenaga
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-3315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bridget Duru
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 1:46:16 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Bridget Duru
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22102-1203

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matthew McCartin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matthew McCartin
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anna Dinh
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anna Dinh
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-4521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elvia Gonzalez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 2:12:53 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elvia Gonzalez
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2824

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Krawczel
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Krawczel
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2137

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ilham Trabelsi
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:08:35 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ilham Trabelsi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Heiden
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I have taught transgender students at both the high school and college level, and can tell you as an educator that it is essential that a school's administration serve as both a model of how to treat all people as well as a first line of defense against discrimination. I care about ALL of my students, and those who identify as transgender are no different. Such students need extra protection against the social stigmas they're already dealing with. Please exemplify compassion, practice empathy, and act as a role model in this decision.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Heiden
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2233

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Judith Hines
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 2:13:09 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Judith Hines
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-3822

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Helen C. Kyle
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:38:44 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Helen C. Kyle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1370

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Heather Hibbs
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Heather Hibbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1650

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Richards
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This is a very personal issue to me as [redacted] attends a Fairfax County Public School and has two very close friends who are transgender. We have welcomed them into our home and call them by the pronouns they identify with. The stories that [redacted] has told us regarding name calling and bullying to these friends of [redacted] has caused many tear filled discussions of what [redacted] can do to help them- this is a huge burden for a teenager to feel they are taking on alone. This is an issue that the school must take on and embrace and care for every student, no matter how they identify as a gender. I love these children and it breaks my heart to see how much it hurts them and their friends when they are not seen for who they really are and how they identify. Please PLEASE add protections for them.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Richards
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-3178

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jane Anne Gleason
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jane Anne Gleason
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2505

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Sackett
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:38:45 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Sackett
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20002-4805

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of MARY HOFFMAN
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. MARY HOFFMAN
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Russell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Russell
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6864

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Paul Macomber
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:08 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Paul Macomber
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2144

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolando Valdes
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolando Valdes
[redacted]1
Manassas, VA 20110-2720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Kim
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is a no-brainer. Protect these very vulnerable children, please!

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Kim
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gianna Sheffield
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gianna Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Riddle
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:08:43 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Riddle
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Zainab Barry
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Zainab Barry
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-2528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dave Mcharg
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Dave Mcharg
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-6229

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Dwire
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:38:45 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Dwire
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3835

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Faust
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Diana Yglesias
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diana Yglesias
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2652

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Denise Shafer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 4:08:54 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Denise Shafer
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Krauskopf
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Krauskopf
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1029

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22201-3774

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Gonzalez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:09:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Amy Gonzalez
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Harriet Becker
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Harriet Becker
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-0983

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jewel Cardwell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jewel Cardwell
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-5183

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tia Rose
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tia Rose
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3539

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of B E
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. B E
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Angel
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Angel
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-2812

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Baird
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Cheryl Baird
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6510

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Lapalme
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as a graduate of Hayfield secondary this is very important to me.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Lapalme
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-6040

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Del Hardesty
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a resident of Fairfax County, I want all students to have safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Del Hardesty
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1124

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jacky Longwell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jacky Longwell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1342

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margo Kujat
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margo Kujat
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2842

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Thomas Powell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Thomas Powell
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-5809

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:06 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Sapone
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a public school system, it is your duty to protect and ensure safe environments for ALL of your students regardless of any prejudices that may be held by executives and conservative parents.

Thank you,

Ms. Sarah Sapone
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1238

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Rothstein
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:12 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amy Rothstein
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-5423

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Esther Park
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Esther Park
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Falak Ojjeh
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Falak Ojjeh
[redacted]
Morgantown, WV 26505-4891

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lauren Vogel
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lauren Vogel
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1165

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Beth Cole
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:09:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a FCPS parent I feel that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Beth Cole
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-5437

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Duncan-Maietta
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Duncan-Maietta
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Veronica Skov
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Noblesse oblige defend the weak and the innocent. Transgender students need protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Veronica Skov
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2835

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Goldsmith
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Goldsmith
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jeannette Mulherin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jeannette Mulherin
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1918

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Evans
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Thank you for the work you have already done to make Fairfax County Public Schools safe for all students and teachers. I ask that you continue this by making the aforementioned changes.

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Evans
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Kline
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Kline
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1313

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Patricia Ann Liske
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:14 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Patricia Ann Liske
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ryan Salisbury
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ryan Salisbury
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3517

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Leigh Park
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leigh Park
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-1207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mackenzie Aylward
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mackenzie Aylward
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1848

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gina Richard
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:15 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1140

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kevin Nguyen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:35 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kevin Nguyen
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-3626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Timothy Klipp
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:17 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Timothy Klipp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1424

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathiegong Williams
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathiegong Williams
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ron Gilliland
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ron Gilliland
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2946

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maggie Godbold
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maggie Godbold
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-1626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sparks Lowry
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Sparks Lowry
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22102-2524

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristin Pradko
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:17 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Kristin Pradko
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5280

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gina Richard
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:19 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1140

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hazel Mcleod
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Hazel Mcleod
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3909

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Asma Rasheed
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Asma Rasheed
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Fergusson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:23 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Fergusson
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jodie Langford
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jodie Langford
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3530

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Greco
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth Greco
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1320

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Albin
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:23 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Albin
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4408

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Britt
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We are an FCPS family and this is important to us. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Britt
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-4917

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deborah DeVore
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Transgender students do not choose to be transgender. They deserve the right to be who they are, and to be safe from bullying. Transgender youth are often at greater risk of being bullied and discrimination. Please provide them with needed protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Deborah DeVore
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Diann Presley
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diann Presley
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2277

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jason Endicott
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:24 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jason Endicott
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2107

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheridan Johnson
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheridan Johnson
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2288

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Conley Lowrance
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:12 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is archaic and beyond belief that a school system as well regarded as Fairfax County Public Schools has yet to recognize the humanity of its most targeted students, faculty, and staff. It is time for FCPS to look towards the future of human rights and legal policy rather than cling to anachronistic procedures.

Thank you,

Mr. Conley Lowrance
[redacted]
New York, NY 10021-3970

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Douglas Firman
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Firman
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-3634

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katya Belyayeva
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As someone with many friends who are both teachers as well as students in FCPS, I hope you establish these protections and carry on the reputation FCPS as the nation's top district for public education.

Thank you,

Mr. Katya Belyayeva
[redacted]
Silver Spring, MD 20910-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dianna Belman
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dianna Belman
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8556

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth McDonough
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:15 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura LaVertu
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura LaVertu
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emma Afzal
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Emma Afzal
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2529

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gwen Doddy Lowit
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:33 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gwen Doddy Lowit
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2005

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sherry Alexander
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:20 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sherry Alexander
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3708

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Arlene Black
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Arlene Black
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1917

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Trish Hustvedt
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:21 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Hough
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Hough
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-4622

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cory Hall
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This should include transgender students and teachers to ensure that they have the same protection as other students in the realm of harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Cory Hall
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2910

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elinor Curry
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elinor Curry
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3554

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathleen Darrah
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Darrah
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-3727

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolette Dibble
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:28 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Nicolette Dibble
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2623

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michael Palmer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Specifying protection for Transgendered students reinforces for all our children the importance of tolerance for those who may be different. As in the Rogers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" song about racism "You've Got to be Carefully Taught" applies here. Fairfax County should carefullly teach our young people not to hate and to practice tolerance. Life will go much smoother for them and for the rest of us if Fairfax County steps up and leads the way on these important issues.

Thank you,

Mr. Michael Palmer
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2110

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Carlos Lopez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Carlos Lopez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-3449

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Allison Merfeld
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:29 AM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Allison Merfeld
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elle Colen
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elle Colen
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2516

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jo Louise Klein
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jo Louise Klein
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-5503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ray Mims
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ray Mims
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hayde Arp
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hayde Arp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22302-3420

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lisa Riddle
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:09:35 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is not about personal beliefs, it is about education. Students cannot learn if they are being bullied and harassed. We need to ensure that all students feel safe enough at our schools to learn.

Thank you,

Ms. Lisa Riddle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1272

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Acadia Gribble
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Acadia Gribble
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alex Kaufman
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alex Kaufman
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2434

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Owens
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:39:28 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Owens
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4058

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Leslie Plummer
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:21 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leslie Plummer
[redacted]
Merrifield, VA 22116-2508

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duncan Cooper
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:34 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duncan Cooper
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1009

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Mendez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Mendez
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1591

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Brooks
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:39:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We must create a safe, hate-free environment for our children. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Brooks
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1136

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Zimmerman
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:35 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. And we know from experience that unless specifically protected, any group's status can be called into question. Let's not let that happen again!

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Zimmerman
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2400

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Walter Krushinski
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

These students NEED to feel safe; they DESERVE to feel safe. Please make the right decision.

Thank you,

Mr. Walter Krushinski
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Marote
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:39 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Melissa Marote
[redacted]
Canoga Park, CA 91303-1035

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jordan Small
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jordan Small
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Seul Rhee
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Seul Rhee
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2429

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of evan Braswell
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. evan Braswell
[redacted]
Frederick, MD 21704-6619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Virginia Reed
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Virginia Reed
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2254

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Padron
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Padron
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2610

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stefan Ries
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:23 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stefan Ries
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1669

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of William Hall
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. William Hall
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ziba Pirnia
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:43 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Ziba Pirnia
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2025

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Teresa Kim
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Teresa Kim
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20005-4475

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pelumi Sholagbade
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a person who attends a school in Fairfax County, this cause is very near and dear to my heart.

Thank you,

Miss Pelumi Sholagbade
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christine McLean
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christine McLean
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Morgan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. I am a mother of former (graduated) FCPS students who wants every student to feel as safe as mine did. Growing up is a difficult time, and growing up obviously different is even more challenging. Let's support these kids!

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Morgan
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-3605

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tessa Porciello
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tessa Porciello
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aaron Hood
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and educators deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Aaron Hood
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4422

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Austin Cox
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally. Transgender people are no exception.

Thank you,

Mr. Austin Cox
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jenaca Vargas
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jenaca Vargas
9490 Virginia Center Blvd Unit 144
Vienna, VA 22181-4801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jamilah Suarez
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jamilah Suarez
PO Box 793
Fairfax, VA 22038-0793

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aaron Hood
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and educators deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Aaron Hood
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4422

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate York
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate York
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20194-1320

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ronda Brooks
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 7:16:30 PM

May 8, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ronda Brooks
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Mosher-Williams
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 5:13:46 PM

May 7, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This is the right thing to do and not just because most Fairfax County parents and students believe in these freedoms.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Mosher-Williams
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1958

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kitty Smith
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Kitty Smith
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1712

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of [redacted]
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 9:43:01 PM

May 6, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and teachers deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As a transgender student, I can't honestly say that I feel safe at school, and furthermore, as someone who wants to be a teacher in the future, I feel that I will come to feel even less safe and will be even less open about being who I am. I beg you to create a space where students and educators don't have to feel the same way.

Thank you,

Miss [redacted]
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1125

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosalie Dncan
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:54 PM

May 5, 2015

Tamara Derenak Kaufax

Dear Derenak Kaufax,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Rosalie Dncan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-4334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erin Laughlin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Saturday, May 09, 2015 1:18:12 PM

May 9, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Laughlin
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3157

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ronda Brooks
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 7:16:42 PM

May 8, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ronda Brooks
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Shannon
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 5:14:08 PM

May 7, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Shannon
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-4313

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 3:13:39 PM

May 7, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.
I am the mother of a JEB Stuart HS student

Thank you,

Ms. Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1411

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Judith Hines
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 2:13:10 PM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Judith Hines
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-3822

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elvia Gonzalez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 2:13:08 PM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elvia Gonzalez
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2824

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bridget Duru
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 1:46:17 PM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Bridget Duru
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22102-1203

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laurie Lubsen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 11:49:16 AM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laurie Lubsen
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2926

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Fowler
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 9:41:13 AM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Fowler
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1702

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Judy Conn
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 8:41:07 AM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Judy Conn
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4526

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathleen Wilson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 8:11:06 AM

May 6, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Wilson
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1130

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Say
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:40:25 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Say
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3264

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jhumur Chaudhuri
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:40:22 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jhumur Chaudhuri
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2519

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matt La Chance
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:16 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matt La Chance
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3962

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gerrald Gantt
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:10:15 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Gerrald Gantt
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5372

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolf Taylor
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:32 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolf Taylor
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-2053

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kaelan Brown
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:27 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kaelan Brown
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22204-4332

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Augustus Vranizan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:10:10 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Augustus Vranizan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20165-5180

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sophie Fowler
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:10:16 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sophie Fowler
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2302

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Brossy
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 6:10:00 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Anne Brossy
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1827

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Evans Evan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 5:09:53 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Evans Evan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20164-1341

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stephanie Bomar
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 4:09:45 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Stephanie Bomar
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3033

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Jebian
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 3:09:56 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

The statistics are sobering. The rates of homelessness, abuse, depression and suicide among transgender youth are significantly higher than for any other marginalized group. We have a long way to go before these children feel safe, welcome and understood in our homes, churches and schools. I urge you to take this important step forward.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Jebian
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2306

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hernaldo J Castaneda
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:39:46 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hernaldo J Castaneda
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-7427

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of MIGUEL LARA
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:10:19 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. MIGUEL LARA
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22046-7364

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosalie Dncan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:42 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Rosalie Dncan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-4334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Marote
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:42 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Melissa Marote
[redacted]
Canoga Park, CA 91303-1035

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duncan Cooper
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:41 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duncan Cooper
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1009

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Zimmerman
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:36 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. And we know from experience that unless specifically protected, any group's status can be called into question. Let's not let that happen again!

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Zimmerman
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2400

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Owens
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:39:30 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Owens
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4058

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lisa Riddle
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:09:38 PM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is not about personal beliefs, it is about education. Students cannot learn if they are being bullied and harassed. We need to ensure that all students feel safe enough at our schools to learn.

Thank you,

Ms. Lisa Riddle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1272

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Allison Merfeld
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:32 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Allison Merfeld
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolette Dibble
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:30 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Nicolette Dibble
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2623

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elinor Curry
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:40 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elinor Curry
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3554

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Trish Hustvedt
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:24 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Trish Hustvedt
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:23 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sherry Alexander
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:22 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sherry Alexander
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3708

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Conley Lowrance
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:14 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is archaic and beyond belief that a school system as well regarded as Fairfax County Public Schools has yet to recognize the humanity of its most targeted students, faculty, and staff. It is time for FCPS to look towards the future of human rights and legal policy rather than cling to anachronistic procedures.

Thank you,

Mr. Conley Lowrance
[redacted]
New York, NY 10021-3970

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth McDonough
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:39:35 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Elizabeth Gibson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Gender Identity Protections in FCPS
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:12:46 AM

Dear Ms Strauss,

Thank you for your hard work ensuring that Fairfax County Schools help us raise educated and well adjusted young men and women, prepared to create a better future for us all! I am the parent of two graduates of Lake Braddock Secondary School and am proud of their successes and all that FCPS has done to help prepare them for college and prepare them as educated and strong women who actively engaged to making this world a better place

I am writing to urge you to SUPPORT protections for gender identity for students, staff and teachers. No one should ever have to forego legal rights and protections due to their gender identity. Those who have affirmed a gender identity different than that assigned at birth suffer grievous harms on an all-to-regular basis. No child should ever suffer harassment or be ostracized because of their gender identity. On the contrary, it is our collective duty to protect and nurture this very vulnerable population. As US citizens and Fairfax County residents, they deserve our love and protection.

I urge you to support protection of Gender Identity!

With my warmest regards,

Elizabeth A. Gibson, Col, USAF (Ret)

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jason Endicott
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jason Endicott
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2107

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Albin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Albin
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4408

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Fergusson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Fergusson
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gina Richard
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:21 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1140

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gina Richard
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:17 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1140

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Timothy Klipp
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:16 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Timothy Klipp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1424

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristin Pradko
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:15 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Kristin Pradko
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5280

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Patricia Ann Liske
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:13 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Patricia Ann Liske
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Duncan-Maietta
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Duncan-Maietta
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Evans
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:09 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Thank you for the work you have already done to make Fairfax County Public Schools safe for all students and teachers. I ask that you continue this by making the aforementioned changes.

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Evans
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Beth Cole
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:09:13 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a FCPS parent I feel that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Beth Cole
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-5437

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Vera Horton
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:09:12 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Vera Horton
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5295

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Rothstein
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:16 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amy Rothstein
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-5423

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Baird
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:09 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Cheryl Baird
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6510

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tia Rose
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:07 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tia Rose
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3539

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:06 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jacky Longwell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:06 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jacky Longwell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1342

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Gonzalez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:09:16 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Amy Gonzalez
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Denise Shafer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 4:09:18 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Denise Shafer
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Dwire
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:38:50 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Dwire
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3835

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Riddle
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:08:44 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Riddle
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Paul Macomber
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:08 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Paul Macomber
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2144

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Sackett
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:38:45 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Sackett
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20002-4805

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Helen C. Kyle
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:38:44 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Helen C. Kyle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1370

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ilham Trabelsi
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:08:35 AM

May 5, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ilham Trabelsi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kayleigh Buenaga
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:32 AM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I'm going to use the words of Andrea Lafferty, who is so avidly campaigning against this proposition. "Children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment in which to learn". Yes, all children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment to be educated in. This would allow children and adolescents who are questioning or actively changing their gender identity the protection they deserve. Schools are already hostile enough, why don't we at least give these children and teenagers a less threatening and protected environment in which to learn and brighten their future

Thank you,

Ms. Kayleigh Buenaga
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-3315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Gibson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:31 AM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elizabeth Gibson
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4668

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Debra Steppel
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:50 AM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Debra Steppel
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4833

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Walker
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:27 AM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Walker
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of George Little
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. George Little
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1022

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Peter Reynolds
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Peter Reynolds
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3506

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Randall Casey
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Randall Casey
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-3920

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Klare Keenan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Klare Keenan
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1634

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Louise Perini
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 11:08:33 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Louise Perini
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3506

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robbie Morris
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Robbie Morris
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1031

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Annette Puente
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Annette Puente
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bethany Cardone
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Bethany Cardone
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-2304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexis Garretson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Alexis Garretson
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-3716

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janette Dunder
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Janette Dunder
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-6629

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of John Richards
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. John Richards
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-3178

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Eric Papula
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Eric Papula
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-1926

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anthony Bankhead
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Anthony Bankhead
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1124

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Liz Dyer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Liz Dyer
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6604

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Foote
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Foote
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22302-1615

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate York
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate York
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20194-1320

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Brooks
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:39:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We must create a safe, hate-free environment for our children. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Brooks
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1136

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elle Colen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:39:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elle Colen
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2516

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alex Kaufman
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:39:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alex Kaufman
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2434

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Leslie Plummer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leslie Plummer
[redacted]
Merrifield, VA 22116-2508

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ray Mims
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ray Mims
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michael Palmer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Specifying protection for Transgendered students reinforces for all our children the importance of tolerance for those who may be different. As in the Rogers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" song about racism "You've Got to be Carefully Taught" applies here. Fairfax County should carefullly teach our young people not to hate and to practice tolerance. Life will go much smoother for them and for the rest of us if Fairfax County steps up and leads the way on these important issues.

Thank you,

Mr. Michael Palmer
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2110

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Hough
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:21 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Hough
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-4622

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathleen Darrah
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathleen Darrah
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-3727

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dianna Belman
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:36 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dianna Belman
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8556

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gwen Doddy Lowit
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gwen Doddy Lowit
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2005

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Douglas Firman
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Firman
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-3634

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Asma Rasheed
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Asma Rasheed
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Diann Presley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diann Presley
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2277

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jodie Langford
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jodie Langford
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3530

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Britt
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

We are an FCPS family and this is important to us. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Britt
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-4917

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jeannette Mulherin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jeannette Mulherin
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1918

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Sapone
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:47 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a public school system, it is your duty to protect and ensure safe environments for ALL of your students regardless of any prejudices that may be held by executives and conservative parents.

Thank you,

Ms. Sarah Sapone
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1238

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Veronica Skov
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:39 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Noblesse oblige defend the weak and the innocent. Transgender students need protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Veronica Skov
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2835

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ron Gilliland
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ron Gilliland
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2946

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Lapalme
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as a graduate of Hayfield secondary this is very important to me.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Lapalme
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-6040

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Thomas Powell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:09:32 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Thomas Powell
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-5809

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Faust
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:38 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maggie Godbold
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:36 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maggie Godbold
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-1626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lauren Vogel
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lauren Vogel
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1165

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Leigh Park
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leigh Park
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-1207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Harriet Becker
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Harriet Becker
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-0983

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kevin Nguyen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kevin Nguyen
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-3626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of B E
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. B E
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Krauskopf
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Krauskopf
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1029

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Zainab Barry
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Zainab Barry
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-2528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Faust
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Kim
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is a no-brainer. Protect these very vulnerable children, please!

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Kim
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Russell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Russell
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6864

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of MARY HOFFMAN
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. MARY HOFFMAN
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Heather Hibbs
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Heather Hibbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1650

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Krawczel
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Krawczel
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2137

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matthew McCartin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matthew McCartin
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sharon Dymowski
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sharon Dymowski
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3248

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Berry
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Berry
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-4230

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mandy DeVine
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mandy DeVine
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2920

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jayne Byrnes
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-3218

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Htet Wrigley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Htet Wrigley
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6540

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Peggy Woods
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Peggy Woods
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22312-3116

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michele Beard
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michele Beard
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margot Mcmanus
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margot Mcmanus
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1814

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Dickson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Dickson
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4131

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amber Deardorff Gilson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amber Deardorff Gilson
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-6003

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jayne Byrnes
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-3218

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Davis
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Davis
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Wegmer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Wegmer
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deirdre McQuillin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Deirdre McQuillin
[redacted]
Saint Paul, MN 55106-4214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jules Trapp
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jules Trapp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1837

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tona Brown
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tona Brown
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Whitney Olson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:21 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Whitney Olson
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2044

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Craig Coughlin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Craig Coughlin
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3653

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kitty Smith
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Kitty Smith
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1712

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle Fremen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle Fremen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2466

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Marisa Sheffield
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Marisa Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Farris
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Please protect and embrace our kids! All of our kids!!!

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Farris
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3211

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Douglas Hansen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Hansen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kerry Wingell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kerry Wingell
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura Lawson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura Lawson
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Green
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Rebecca Green
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20010-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Barr
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:35 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Karen Barr
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-2817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aaron Hood
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and educators deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Aaron Hood
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4422

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Whittington
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Whittington
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Megan Harper
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:23 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Megan Harper
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5346

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christine McLean
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christine McLean
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tessa Porciello
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tessa Porciello
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Vincent Worthington
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Vincent Worthington
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1954

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Campos
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Campos
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Edwards
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Edwards
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jenaca Vargas
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jenaca Vargas
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-4801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Zatko
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3705

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of TJ Holland
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. TJ Holland
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-1947

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Butts
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Butts
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3245

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Zatko
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3705

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Morgan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. I am a mother of former (graduated) FCPS students who wants every student to feel as safe as mine did. Growing up is a difficult time, and growing up obviously different is even more challenging. Let's support these kids!

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Morgan
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-3605

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pelumi Sholagbade
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a person who attends a school in Fairfax County, this cause is very near and dear to my heart.

Thank you,

Miss Pelumi Sholagbade
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Austin Cox
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally. Transgender people are no exception.

Thank you,

Mr. Austin Cox
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Teresa Kim
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Teresa Kim
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20005-4475

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jo Louise Klein
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:38 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jo Louise Klein
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-5503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jordan Small
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:36 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jordan Small
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Seul Rhee
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Seul Rhee
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2429

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Mendez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Mendez
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1591

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katya Belyayeva
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As someone with many friends who are both teachers as well as students in FCPS, I hope you establish these protections and carry on the reputation FCPS as the nation's top district for public education.

Thank you,

Mr. Katya Belyayeva
[redacted]
Silver Spring, MD 20910-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hayde Arp
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hayde Arp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22302-3420

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Padron
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Padron
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2610

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Virginia Reed
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Virginia Reed
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2254

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheridan Johnson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheridan Johnson
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2288

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ziba Pirnia
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Ziba Pirnia
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2025

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Walter Krushinski
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

These students NEED to feel safe; they DESERVE to feel safe. Please make the right decision.

Thank you,

Mr. Walter Krushinski
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Greco
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth Greco
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1320

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emma Afzal
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Emma Afzal
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2529

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stefan Ries
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stefan Ries
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1669

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of William Hall
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. William Hall
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Arlene Black
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Arlene Black
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1917

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of evan Braswell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. evan Braswell
[redacted]
Frederick, MD 21704-6619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cory Hall
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This should include transgender students and teachers to ensure that they have the same protection as other students in the realm of harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Cory Hall
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2910

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura LaVertu
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura LaVertu
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Carlos Lopez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Carlos Lopez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-3449

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deborah DeVore
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Transgender students do not choose to be transgender. They deserve the right to be who they are, and to be safe from bullying. Transgender youth are often at greater risk of being bullied and discrimination. Please provide them with needed protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Deborah DeVore
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hazel Mcleod
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Hazel Mcleod
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3909

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Acadia Gribble
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Acadia Gribble
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sparks Lowry
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Sparks Lowry
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22102-2524

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Angel
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Angel
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-2812

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mackenzie Aylward
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mackenzie Aylward
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1848

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Falak Ojjeh
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Falak Ojjeh
[redacted]
Morgantown, WV 26505-4891

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Goldsmith
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Goldsmith
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Esther Park
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Esther Park
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ryan Salisbury
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ryan Salisbury
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3517

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathiegong Williams
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathiegong Williams
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margo Kujat
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margo Kujat
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2842

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Diana Yglesias
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diana Yglesias
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2652

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22201-3774

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Kline
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Kline
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1313

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Del Hardesty
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a resident of Fairfax County, I want all students to have safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Del Hardesty
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1124

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Fitch
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Please Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County school graduate myself, I expect Fairfax County to be on the leading edge in providing a safe and secure environment for all students and educators consistent with the US Department of Education guidance to include "gender identity and expression" in our non-discrimination protections. Thank you for your time and support to this important proposed change.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Fitch
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-3528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dave Mcharg
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Dave Mcharg
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-6229

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gianna Sheffield
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gianna Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jewel Cardwell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jewel Cardwell
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-5183

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jane Anne Gleason
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jane Anne Gleason
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2505

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Heiden
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I have taught transgender students at both the high school and college level, and can tell you as an educator that it is essential that a school's administration serve as both a model of how to treat all people as well as a first line of defense against discrimination. I care about ALL of my students, and those who identify as transgender are no different. Such students need extra protection against the social stigmas they're already dealing with. Please exemplify compassion, practice empathy, and act as a role model in this decision.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Heiden
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2233

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolando Valdes
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolando Valdes
[redacted]
Manassas, VA 20110-2720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Richards
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This is a very personal issue to me as [redacted] attends a Fairfax County Public School and has two very close friends who are transgender. We have welcomed them into our home and call them by the pronouns they identify with. The stories that [redacted] has told us regarding name calling and bullying to these friends of [redacted] has caused many tear filled discussions of what [redacted] can do to help them- this is a huge burden for a teenager to feel they are taking on alone. This is an issue that the school must take on and embrace and care for every student, no matter how they identify as a gender. I love these children and it breaks my heart to see how much it hurts them and their friends when they are not seen for who they really are and how they identify. Please PLEASE add protections for them.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Richards
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-3178

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of trey eckels
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:09:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. trey eckels
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4673

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kailey Kefi
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:09:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kailey Kefi
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Connor White
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Connor White
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2564

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jamilah Suarez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jamilah Suarez
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22038-0793

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katie Busch
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Katie Busch
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-2850

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolas Martin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Nicolas Martin
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3138

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bonnie Hobbs
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:47 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Bonnie Hobbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2560

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Zellmer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:45 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Cheryl Zellmer
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2271

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of April Medina
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:45 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. April Medina
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8378

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Reiad Nazzal
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Reiad Nazzal
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-5167

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Cortezi
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Margaret Cortezi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1876

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Kaplan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:39 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

While I believe that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment, since I am the parent of children who attend Fairfax County Public Schools I think it is particularly important for my kids to see that position overtly supported by their school system.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Kaplan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1343

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tiffany Nguyen
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:39 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tiffany Nguyen
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1091

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Brooke Kane
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:32 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Brooke Kane
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4232

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mary Lee Mcintyre
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. Can we expect some positive action on this issue from the School Board?

Thank you,

Mrs. Mary Lee Mcintyre
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-4828

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of James Langley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. James Langley
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-5419

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katherine Shockley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As an educator myself, I struggle to ensure that all of my students feel safe without any support from school bylaws.

Thank you,

Miss Katherine Shockley
[redacted]
Meadows of Dan, VA 24120-4410

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kellie Burke
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kellie Burke
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2426

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Asha Jones
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Asha Jones
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lili Crowley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lili Crowley
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2942

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Andrea Berger
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Andrea Berger
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3514

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ashley America
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ashley America
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6555

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Shannon Romulus
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve to have the chance to be true to themselves and that should be celebrated at all levels of discipline.

Thank you,

Miss Shannon Romulus
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1509

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Price
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is self evident that students in an environment that is welcoming and accepting of them is one where those students can be successful. The primary role of schools is to educate students. As such, schools should undertake all means necessary to deliver an exceptional education. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Price
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2042

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michael Seltzer
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Michael Seltzer
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8322

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristen Campbell
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County resident, this issue matters to me and my family!

Thank you,

Ms. Kristen Campbell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2609

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Marros
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Marros
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7944

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christa Dodoo
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christa Dodoo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anna Dinh
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anna Dinh
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-4521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Naseem
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Colleen Naseem
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-3635

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Raul Ortega
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Raul Ortega
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4208

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Findley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As a parent of a current Fairfax County School District kindergartener, this issue is an important one for me.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Findley
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Perkins
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Perkins
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duane Ludwig
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duane Ludwig
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Forrest Hirsh
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Forrest Hirsh
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7344

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria-Paula Barahona
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maria-Paula Barahona
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2421

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Noah Strike
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Noah Strike
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tami Palacky
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tami Palacky
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Larson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Larson
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1234

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Baker
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Baker
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-7126

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicole Martin
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Nicole Martin
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4406

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jonathan Flowers
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jonathan Flowers
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1631

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lorraine Sheffield
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Lorraine Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Casey
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Casey
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2409

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria Gargano
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Maria Gargano
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3220

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Noor
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Noor
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1830

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ardelle Mbita
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Ardelle Mbita
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-0243

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Das
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Melissa Das
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-1801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Crystal Williams
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Crystal Williams
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-4412

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosanne DeLuca
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rosanne DeLuca
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2184

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
[redacted]t
Herndon, VA 20170-3206

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Weinberger
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Karen Weinberger
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-5311

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of ANNE BURKE
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. ANNE BURKE
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2565

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexis Sanchez
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as someone who went to Fairfax County schools all my life I know first hand how important this is. Our student need a safe place to grow into themselves. Schools should protect their students.

Thank you,

Miss Alexis Sanchez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-5293

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Cogan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erin Mooney
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Mooney
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2818

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of José Kiper
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. José Kiper
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Claudia Moore
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Claudia Moore
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1203

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Cogan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Siegel
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Siegel
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6868

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Law
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Law
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Fremont
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Fremont
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jen Salierno
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jen Salierno
[redacted]
Savannah, GA 31406-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Clarice Wise
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Clarice Wise
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1121

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Brkic
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margaret Brkic
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-3110

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Salazar
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Salazar
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1427

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Senseney Marshall
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Senseney Marshall
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Neumann
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Colleen Neumann
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3725

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Herman Ayayo
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Herman Ayayo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Gilbert
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Gilbert
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1915

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Tulo
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Tulo
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3520

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Bunch
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Bunch
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3938

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheri Lemon
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheri Lemon
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-4499

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Taffany Bickley
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Taffany Bickley
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1883

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Loan Withrow
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Loan Withrow
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1447

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katen Milliken
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katen Milliken
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1969

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Caroline Mccormack
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Caroline Mccormack
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle StJohn
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle StJohn
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1534

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Susan Mckinney
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Susan Mckinney
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1701

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Geri Falek
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:49 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Geri Falek
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1312

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mike Robinson
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mike Robinson
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-4858

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mohammad Khan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Mohammad Khan
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-2244

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Edward Mulligan
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:49 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Edward Mulligan
[redacted]
22153, VA 22152

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Angela Judy
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:48 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Angela Judy
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5228

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Brown
To: Strauss, Jane (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Jane Strauss

Dear Strauss,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Brown
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Frances Trainor
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators - Mount Vernon
Date: Friday, May 08, 2015 7:45:29 AM

May 8, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Frances Trainor
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3838

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 3:13:38 PM

May 7, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.
I am the mother of a JEB Stuart HS student

Thank you,

Ms. Aysegul Acar-Dreyer
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1411

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Woolwine
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 2:13:31 PM

May 7, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jessica Woolwine
[redacted]
Leesburg, VA 20176-6874

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of JOSEPH CABUSH
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 11:13:17 AM

May 7, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Working daily with transgender students in FCPS, I have found that there is still ongoing discrimination and I would love to see FCPS take a leadership role in reducing the high risk of suicide among this population.

Thank you,

Mr. JOSEPH CABUSH
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-3246

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of David McNiff
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 10:42:30 PM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. David McNiff
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-3612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christy Russo
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 10:12:50 PM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christy Russo
[redacted]
Ocala, FL 34470-5355

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of [redacted]
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 9:42:56 PM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and teachers deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As a transgender student, I can't honestly say that I feel safe at school, and furthermore, as someone who wants to be a teacher in the future, I feel that I will come to feel even less safe and will be even less open about being who I am. I beg you to create a space where students and educators don't have to feel the same way.

Thank you,

Miss [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elvia Gonzalez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 2:13:11 PM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elvia Gonzalez
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2824

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Fowler
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 9:41:20 AM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Fowler
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1702

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Judy Conn
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 8:41:07 AM

May 6, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Judy Conn
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4526

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matt La Chance
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:40:19 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matt La Chance
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3962

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gerrald Gantt
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:10:15 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Gerrald Gantt
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5372

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kaelan Brown
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:33 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kaelan Brown
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22204-4332

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolf Taylor
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:40:15 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolf Taylor
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-2053

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Augustus Vranizan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:10:23 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Augustus Vranizan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20165-5180

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sophie Fowler
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:10:12 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sophie Fowler
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2302

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Brossy
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 6:09:58 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Anne Brossy
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1827

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Evans Evan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 5:09:53 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Evans Evan
[redacted]
Sterling, VA 20164-1341

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosalie Dncan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:42 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Rosalie Dncan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-4334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Marote
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:41 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Melissa Marote
[redacted]
Canoga Park, CA 91303-1035

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Zimmerman
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:46 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. And we know from experience that unless specifically protected, any group's status can be called into question. Let's not let that happen again!

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Zimmerman
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2400

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duncan Cooper
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:09:33 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duncan Cooper
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1009

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Owens
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:39:28 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Owens
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4058

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lisa Riddle
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:09:29 PM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is not about personal beliefs, it is about education. Students cannot learn if they are being bullied and harassed. We need to ensure that all students feel safe enough at our schools to learn.

Thank you,

Ms. Lisa Riddle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1272

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Allison Merfeld
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:31 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Allison Merfeld
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolette Dibble
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:39:29 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Nicolette Dibble
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-2623

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sherry Alexander
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:31 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sherry Alexander
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3708

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elinor Curry
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:29 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elinor Curry
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3554

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Trish Hustvedt
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:23 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Trish Hustvedt
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:09:22 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Trish Hustvedt
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Conley Lowrance
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:39:35 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is archaic and beyond belief that a school system as well regarded as Fairfax County Public Schools has yet to recognize the humanity of its most targeted students, faculty, and staff. It is time for FCPS to look towards the future of human rights and legal policy rather than cling to anachronistic procedures.

Thank you,

Mr. Conley Lowrance
[redacted]
New York, NY 10021-3970

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth McDonough
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:39:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Fergusson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Fergusson
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Albin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:25 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Albin
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4408

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jason Endicott
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 10:09:22 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jason Endicott
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2107

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gina Richard
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:21 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gina Richard
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1140

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristin Pradko
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:15 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Kristin Pradko
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5280

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Patricia Ann Liske
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:14 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Patricia Ann Liske
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Timothy Klipp
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 9:09:14 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Timothy Klipp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1424

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Duncan-Maietta
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:13 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Duncan-Maietta
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-1802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mark Evans
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:39:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Thank you for the work you have already done to make Fairfax County Public Schools safe for all students and teachers. I ask that you continue this by making the aforementioned changes.

Thank you,

Mr. Mark Evans
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6802

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Vera Horton
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 8:09:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Vera Horton
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5295

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Rothstein
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:14 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amy Rothstein
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-5423

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:11 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jacky Longwell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:09 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jacky Longwell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1342

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tia Rose
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:07 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tia Rose
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3539

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Baird
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:39:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Cheryl Baird
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6510

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Gonzalez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 7:09:08 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Amy Gonzalez
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Denise Shafer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 4:08:56 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Denise Shafer
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Dwire
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:38:50 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Dwire
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-3835

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Riddle
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 2:08:44 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Riddle
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1929

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:05 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Paul Macomber
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2144

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Sackett
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:01 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Sackett
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20002-4805

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Helen C. Kyle
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:39:01 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Helen C. Kyle
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1370

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ilham Trabelsi
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 1:08:36 AM

May 5, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ilham Trabelsi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Gibson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:57 AM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elizabeth Gibson
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4668

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kayleigh Buenaga
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:38:32 AM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I'm going to use the words of Andrea Lafferty, who is so avidly campaigning against this proposition. "Children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment in which to learn". Yes, all children need and deserve a psychologically stable and emotionally secure environment to be educated in. This would allow children and adolescents who are questioning or actively changing their gender identity the protection they deserve. Schools are already hostile enough, why don't we at least give these children and teenagers a less threatening and protected environment in which to learn and brighten their future

Thank you,

Ms. Kayleigh Buenaga
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-3315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Debra Steppel
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:44 AM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Debra Steppel
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4833

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amanda Walker
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:08:28 AM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amanda Walker
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-4304

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robbie Morris
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:41 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Robbie Morris
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1031

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robbie Morris
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:41 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Robbie Morris
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1031

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Annette Puente
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:38:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Annette Puente
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Liz Dyer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 10:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Liz Dyer
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6604

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ray Mims
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:39:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ray Mims
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elle Colen
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 9:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Elle Colen
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2516

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Leigh Park
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 8:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Leigh Park
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-1207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Krauskopf
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Krauskopf
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1029

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Danielle Faust
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Danielle Faust
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2577

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Kim
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

This is a no-brainer. Protect these very vulnerable children, please!

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Kim
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Zainab Barry
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Zainab Barry
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-2528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Russell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Russell
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6864

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of MARY HOFFMAN
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. MARY HOFFMAN
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1607

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Heather Hibbs
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Heather Hibbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1650

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Krawczel
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Krawczel
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2137

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Matthew McCartin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Matthew McCartin
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Berry
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Berry
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-4230

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mandy DeVine
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mandy DeVine
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2920

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sharon Dymowski
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 7:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sharon Dymowski
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3248

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amber Deardorff Gilson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Amber Deardorff Gilson
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-6003

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jayne Byrnes
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jayne Byrnes
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-3218

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Htet Wrigley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Htet Wrigley
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6540

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deirdre McQuillin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Deirdre McQuillin
[redacted]
Saint Paul, MN 55106-4214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margot Mcmanus
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margot Mcmanus
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1814

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Dickson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Dickson
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-4131

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michele Beard
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michele Beard
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dana Davis
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Dana Davis
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Peggy Woods
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Peggy Woods
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22312-3116

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Wegmer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Richard Wegmer
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3515

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jules Trapp
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jules Trapp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1837

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tona Brown
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tona Brown
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Craig Coughlin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Craig Coughlin
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3653

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Douglas Hansen
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Douglas Hansen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5334

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kitty Smith
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Kitty Smith
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1712

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Whitney Olson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Whitney Olson
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2044

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle Fremen
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle Fremen
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2466

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Green
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Rebecca Green
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20010-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kerry Wingell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Kerry Wingell
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2333

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura Lawson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura Lawson
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Farris
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Please protect and embrace our kids! All of our kids!!!

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Farris
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3211

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Marisa Sheffield
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 6:07:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Marisa Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Butts
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Jennifer Butts
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3245

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Megan Harper
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Megan Harper
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-5346

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Julie Edwards
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Julie Edwards
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1730

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Aaron Hood
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students and educators deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Aaron Hood
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4422

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Zatko
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3705

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Zatko
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:20 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Zatko
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3705

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tessa Porciello
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tessa Porciello
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-3825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Vincent Worthington
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Vincent Worthington
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1954

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katharine Campos
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katharine Campos
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Barr
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Karen Barr
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-2817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christine McLean
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christine McLean
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-1811

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jenaca Vargas
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jenaca Vargas
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22181-4801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Whittington
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Whittington
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2612

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Barry Greenhill
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Barry Greenhill
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3913

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of TJ Holland
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. TJ Holland
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-1947

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pelumi Sholagbade
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a person who attends a school in Fairfax County, this cause is very near and dear to my heart.

Thank you,

Miss Pelumi Sholagbade
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Austin Cox
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally. Transgender people are no exception.

Thank you,

Mr. Austin Cox
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anne Morgan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. I am a mother of former (graduated) FCPS students who wants every student to feel as safe as mine did. Growing up is a difficult time, and growing up obviously different is even more challenging. Let's support these kids!

Thank you,

Ms. Anne Morgan
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-3605

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Teresa Kim
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Teresa Kim
[redacted]
Washington, DC 20005-4475

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ziba Pirnia
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Ziba Pirnia
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2025

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Stefan Ries
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:40 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Stefan Ries
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1669

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jordan Small
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:35 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jordan Small
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-3216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of William Hall
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:31 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. William Hall
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Seul Rhee
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Seul Rhee
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22150-2429

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Mendez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Mendez
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1591

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cory Hall
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:26 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This should include transgender students and teachers to ensure that they have the same protection as other students in the realm of harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Cory Hall
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-2910

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emma Afzal
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Emma Afzal
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2529

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Carlos Lopez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Carlos Lopez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-3449

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hazel Mcleod
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Hazel Mcleod
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-3909

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Arlene Black
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Arlene Black
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-1917

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Hayde Arp
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Hayde Arp
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22302-3420

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Virginia Reed
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Virginia Reed
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2254

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Walter Krushinski
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

These students NEED to feel safe; they DESERVE to feel safe. Please make the right decision.

Thank you,

Mr. Walter Krushinski
[redacted]
Lorton, VA 22079-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jo Louise Klein
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jo Louise Klein
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-5503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheridan Johnson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheridan Johnson
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2288

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katya Belyayeva
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As someone with many friends who are both teachers as well as students in FCPS, I hope you establish these protections and carry on the reputation FCPS as the nation's top district for public education.

Thank you,

Mr. Katya Belyayeva
[redacted]
Silver Spring, MD 20910-2992

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ana Padron
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ana Padron
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-2610

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Laura LaVertu
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Laura LaVertu
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2503

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Elizabeth Greco
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Elizabeth Greco
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1320

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of evan Braswell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:08:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. evan Braswell
[redacted]
Frederick, MD 21704-6619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Acadia Gribble
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Acadia Gribble
[redacted]
Oak Hill, VA 20171-2214

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Deborah DeVore
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

Transgender students do not choose to be transgender. They deserve the right to be who they are, and to be safe from bullying. Transgender youth are often at greater risk of being bullied and discrimination. Please provide them with needed protection.

Thank you,

Ms. Deborah DeVore
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1935

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sparks Lowry
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 5:07:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Sparks Lowry
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22102-2524

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kathiegong Williams
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kathiegong Williams
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Esther Park
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Esther Park
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3817

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ryan Salisbury
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:13 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Ryan Salisbury
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-3517

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Kline
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Kline
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1313

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mackenzie Aylward
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Mackenzie Aylward
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-1848

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Amy Angel
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Amy Angel
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-2812

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Janet Fitch
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Please Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:08 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County school graduate myself, I expect Fairfax County to be on the leading edge in providing a safe and secure environment for all students and educators consistent with the US Department of Education guidance to include "gender identity and expression" in our non-discrimination protections. Thank you for your time and support to this important proposed change.

Thank you,

Ms. Janet Fitch
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-3528

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margo Kujat
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margo Kujat
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2842

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Richards
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. This is a very personal issue to me as [redacted] attends a Fairfax County Public School and has two very close friends who are transgender. We have welcomed them into our home and call them by the pronouns they identify with. The stories that [redacted] has told us regarding name calling and bullying to these friends of [redacted] has caused many tear filled discussions of what [redacted] can do to help them- this is a huge burden for a teenager to feel they are taking on alone. This is an issue that the school must take on and embrace and care for every student, no matter how they identify as a gender. I love these children and it breaks my heart to see how much it hurts them and their friends when they are not seen for who they really are and how they identify. Please PLEASE add protections for them.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Richards
[redacted]
Fairfax Station, VA 22039-3178

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Del Hardesty
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a resident of Fairfax County, I want all students to have safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Del Hardesty
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1124

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Falak Ojjeh
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Falak Ojjeh
[redacted]
Morgantown, WV 26505-4891

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:03 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Alexander Schreiber-Heinz
[redacted]
Arlington, VA 22201-3774

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Gianna Sheffield
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:38:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Gianna Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rachel Goldsmith
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rachel Goldsmith
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2626

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Diana Yglesias
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Diana Yglesias
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2652

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Dave Mcharg
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Dave Mcharg
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-6229

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jane Anne Gleason
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jane Anne Gleason
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22303-2505

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rolando Valdes
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Rolando Valdes
[redacted]
Manassas, VA 20110-2720

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jewel Cardwell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jewel Cardwell
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-5183

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Emily Heiden
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:37:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

I have taught transgender students at both the high school and college level, and can tell you as an educator that it is essential that a school's administration serve as both a model of how to treat all people as well as a first line of defense against discrimination. I care about ALL of my students, and those who identify as transgender are no different. Such students need extra protection against the social stigmas they're already dealing with. Please exemplify compassion, practice empathy, and act as a role model in this decision.

Thank you,

Ms. Emily Heiden
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22032-2233

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kailey Kefi
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:09:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kailey Kefi
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katie Busch
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Katie Busch
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-2850

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Cheryl Zellmer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:48 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Cheryl Zellmer
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-2271

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kristen Campbell
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:46 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

As a Fairfax County resident, this issue matters to me and my family!

Thank you,

Ms. Kristen Campbell
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2609

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Chris Perkins
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:42 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Chris Perkins
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-1431

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Shannon Romulus
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:41 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve to have the chance to be true to themselves and that should be celebrated at all levels of discipline.

Thank you,

Miss Shannon Romulus
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1509

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Bonnie Hobbs
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:41 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Bonnie Hobbs
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2560

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Reiad Nazzal
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:37 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Reiad Nazzal
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-5167

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Cortezi
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:35 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Margaret Cortezi
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1876

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Kaplan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:35 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

While I believe that all students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment, since I am the parent of children who attend Fairfax County Public Schools I think it is particularly important for my kids to see that position overtly supported by their school system.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Kaplan
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-1343

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Larson
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Larson
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-1234

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kellie Burke
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:34 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kellie Burke
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-2426

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Mary Lee Mcintyre
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:32 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. Can we expect some positive action on this issue from the School Board?

Thank you,

Mrs. Mary Lee Mcintyre
[redacted]
Mc Lean, VA 22101-4828

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Brooke Kane
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Brooke Kane
[redacted]
Mclean, VA 22101-4232

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of James Langley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:30 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. James Langley
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20120-5419

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katherine Shockley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment. As an educator myself, I struggle to ensure that all of my students feel safe without any support from school bylaws.

Thank you,

Miss Katherine Shockley
[redacted]
Meadows of Dan, VA 24120-4410

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Connor White
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:29 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Connor White
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-2564

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lili Crowley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Lili Crowley
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-2942

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Asha Jones
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:27 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Asha Jones
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-4441

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jamilah Suarez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:24 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jamilah Suarez
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22038-0793

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Anna Dinh
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Anna Dinh
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-4521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tiffany Nguyen
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:21 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Tiffany Nguyen
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1091

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michael Seltzer
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Michael Seltzer
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8322

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of trey eckels
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. trey eckels
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-4673

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Price
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:19 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

It is self evident that students in an environment that is welcoming and accepting of them is one where those students can be successful. The primary role of schools is to educate students. As such, schools should undertake all means necessary to deliver an exceptional education. All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Price
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-2042

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Christa Dodoo
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Christa Dodoo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-2319

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Marros
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:17 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Marros
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7944

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of April Medina
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. April Medina
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-8378

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicolas Martin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Nicolas Martin
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-3138

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Andrea Berger
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Andrea Berger
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3514

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Melissa Das
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:15 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Melissa Das
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-1801

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ashley America
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Ashley America
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-6555

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Naseem
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Colleen Naseem
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-3635

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Findley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:12 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

As a parent of a current Fairfax County School District [redacted], this issue is an important one for me.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Findley
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3640

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jonathan Flowers
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:11 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Jonathan Flowers
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22307-1631

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Baker
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Baker
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-7126

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Duane Ludwig
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:10 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Duane Ludwig
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-1619

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Raul Ortega
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:09 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Raul Ortega
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4208

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Forrest Hirsh
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Forrest Hirsh
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22030-7344

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria-Paula Barahona
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Maria-Paula Barahona
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22310-2421

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Noah Strike
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Noah Strike
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6305

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Nicole Martin
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Nicole Martin
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-4406

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Crystal Williams
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Crystal Williams
[redacted]
Centreville, VA 20121-4412

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Tami Palacky
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:04 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Tami Palacky
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22153-2021

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Maria Gargano
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Maria Gargano
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3220

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Adam Noor
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:08:00 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Adam Noor
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22044-1830

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Ardelle Mbita
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Ardelle Mbita
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-0243

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Lorraine Sheffield
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Lorraine Sheffield
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2310

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Casey
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Sarah Casey
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-2409

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Sarah Masters & Paul Kearney
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20170-3206

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rosanne DeLuca
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 4:07:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rosanne DeLuca
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2184

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Kate Law
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:38 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Kate Law
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20190-4315

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of ANNE BURKE
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. ANNE BURKE
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-2565

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Alexis Sanchez
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:28 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment and as someone who went to Fairfax County schools all my life I know first hand how important this is. Our student need a safe place to grow into themselves. Schools should protect their students.

Thank you,

Miss Alexis Sanchez
[redacted]
Annandale, VA 22003-5293

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erin Mooney
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erin Mooney
[redacted]
Oakton, VA 22124-2818

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Colleen Neumann
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:25 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Dr. Colleen Neumann
[redacted]
Reston, VA 20191-3725

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jessica Salazar
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:22 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jessica Salazar
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22151-1427

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Tulo
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:18 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jennifer Tulo
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22306-3520

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Sheri Lemon
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:16 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Sheri Lemon
[redacted]
Herndon, VA 20171-4499

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Cogan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:14 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Clarice Wise
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:07 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Clarice Wise
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22043-1121

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Karen Weinberger
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:06 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Karen Weinberger
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22182-5311

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Senseney Marshall
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:05 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Senseney Marshall
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22042-3117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Herman Ayayo
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Herman Ayayo
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-2117

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Loan Withrow
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:02 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Loan Withrow
[redacted]
Springfield, VA 22152-1447

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Richard Cogan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:38:01 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Miss Richard Cogan
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1216

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Caroline Mccormack
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Caroline Mccormack
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-3207

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Pamela Gilbert
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:59 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Pamela Gilbert
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22308-1915

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of José Kiper
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:58 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. José Kiper
[redacted]
Burke, VA 22015-1825

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jen Salierno
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:57 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Jen Salierno
[redacted]
Savannah, GA 31406-2908

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Rebecca Bunch
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:56 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Rebecca Bunch
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-3938

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Claudia Moore
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:55 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Claudia Moore
[redacted]
Clifton, VA 20124-1203

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Robert Siegel
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Robert Siegel
[redacted]
Vienna, VA 22180-6868

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Katen Milliken
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Katen Milliken
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22031-1969

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Taffany Bickley
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:53 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Taffany Bickley
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1883

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Michelle StJohn
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:52 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Michelle StJohn
[redacted]
Great Falls, VA 22066-1534

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Erica Fremont
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:51 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Erica Fremont
[redacted]
Chantilly, VA 20151-1316

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Margaret Brkic
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:50 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Margaret Brkic
[redacted]
Fairfax, VA 22033-3110

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Susan Mckinney
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:49 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Susan Mckinney
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-1701

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Geri Falek
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:37:44 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Geri Falek
[redacted]
Falls Church, VA 22041-1312

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Edward Mulligan
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:54 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mr. Edward Mulligan
[redacted]
22153, VA 22152

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Angela Judy
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:48 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Ms. Angela Judy
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22315-5228

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Human Rights Campaign on behalf of Jennifer Brown
To: Storck, Dan (School Board Member)
Subject: Protect Transgender Students and Educators
Date: Monday, May 04, 2015 3:07:47 PM

May 4, 2015

Daniel Storck

Dear Storck,

I am emailing you to ask you to support important non-discrimination protections that will help make Fairfax County Public Schools safer and more welcoming for vulnerable students. Please add "gender identity and expression" protections to Fairfax School Policy P1450, which provides non-discrimination protections for students and educators. This change will ensure that transgender youth and adults are protected in our schools from harassment and discrimination.

Fairfax County Public Schools have already added gender identity and gender expression protections to the district's anti-bullying policy, as well as non-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation. However, transgender students and educators are not yet explicitly protected from discrimination. This policy change would match guidance from the US Department of Education, which has made clear that gender identity and gender expression are fully covered by Title IX protections.

Transgender students face heightened risk for discrimination, harassment, and school pushout. These protections are essential for these vulnerable youth.

All students deserve safe, supportive schools that are free from discrimination, bullying, and harassment.

Thank you,

Mrs. Jennifer Brown
[redacted]
Alexandria, VA 22309-2521

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: jfanthonyjr@verizon.net
To: School Board
Cc: McLaughlin, Megan (School Board Member)
Subject: Re: Vote on Gender Identity, May 7, 2015
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 12:40:51 PM
Importance: High

To the Fairfax County School Board:

I am a [redacted]. My children greatly benefit from the opportunity to attend one of the finest school systems in the country. I have a very high regard for the effort of the teachers and educators at my kids' school to provide the best environment possible for learning as a student and growing as a child.

I feel the best environment may not continue with a policy change that would provide open access for locker rooms and bathrooms, for transgender students and teachers. I feel this is a bad idea for the prosperity, privacy, and safety, of all or most of the school population.

I urge you to do the right thing! Please do not allow the request of a special interest group to negatively effect the use of facilities by the general population. Fair access to restrooms does not have to mean equal access. Please vote no to a nondiscrimination policy change.

Sincerely,
Jim Anthony
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Nancy Anthony
To: School Board
Cc: McLaughlin, Megan (School Board Member)
Subject: Vote on Gender Identity, May 7, 2015
Date: Tuesday, May 05, 2015 11:31:55 AM

To the Fairfax County School Board:

I am a parent with [redacted] school. My children greatly benefit from the opportunity to attend one of the finest school systems in the country. I have a very high regard for the effort of the teachers and educators at my kids' school to provide the best environment possible for learning as a student and growing as a child.

I feel the best environment may not continue with a policy change that would provide open access for locker rooms and bathrooms, for transgender students and teachers. I feel this is a bad idea for the prosperity, privacy, and safety, of all or most of the school population.

I urge you to do the right thing! Please do not allow the request of a special interest group to negatively effect the use of facilities by the general population. Fair access to restrooms does not have to mean equal access. Please vote no to a nondiscrimination policy change.

Sincerely,
Nancy Anthony
[redacted]

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Ling Bai
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Strong objection to mixed gender bathroom experiment at FCPS
Date: Thursday, April 23, 2015 3:42:42 PM

Dear Ms. Kaufax:

Thank you very much for serving as the Chair of Fairfax County School Board.

I recently heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on April 23 and May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathroomsin order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. My husband and I are very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children - the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county - as lab subjects for this experiment.

Please consider the voice of the parents seriously while you make this important decision. Your attention is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Ling Bai

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Acton Wang
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Strong objection to mixed gender bathroom experiment at FCPS
Date: Thursday, April 23, 2015 6:00:53 PM

Dear Ms. Kaufax:

Thank you very much for serving as the Chair of Fairfax County School Board.

I heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on April 23 and May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathrooms in order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. We are very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children -- the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county -- as lab subjects for this experiment.
There is a natural concern for those psychologically unhealthy individuals who are confused and don't identify with the body parts they were assigned at birth. These people deserve understanding and require counseling and other help. But the overriding concern must be with the vast majority of students who harbor no confusion about their sexual identity.

Parents who object to exposing children to this confused behavior should not be forced to subordinate their sincerely held beliefs in order to accommodate the condition of a very small group of individuals.

Our family firmly objects to this confused behavior. The tyranny of a very small minority must not be allowed to dictate a practice which is contrary to the more common sense beliefs of the majority.

We are completely against this experiment and truly hope that FCPS will accommodate the direction of parents who object to this experiment.

Thank you again for your service at FCPS.

Sincerely,
Acton Wang

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Jacob Chang
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Strong objection to mixed gender bathroom experiment at FCPS
Date: Friday, April 24, 2015 11:23:06 AM

Dear Ms. Kaufax:

Thank you very much for serving as the Chair of Fairfax County School Board.

I recently heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on April 23 and May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathrooms in order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. My wife and I are very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children - the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county - as lab subjects for this experiment.

There is a natural concern for those psychologically unhealthy individuals who are confused and don't identify with the body parts they were assigned at birth. These people deserve understanding and require counseling and other help. But the overriding concern must be with the vast majority of students who harbor no confusion about their sexual identity.

Parents who object to exposing children to this confused behavior should not be forced to subordinate their sincerely held beliefs in order to accommodate the condition of a very small group of individuals.

Our family firmly objects to this confused behavior. The tyranny of a very small minority must not be allowed to dictate a practice which is contrary to the more common sense beliefs of the majority.

We are completely against this experiment and truly hope that FCPS will accommodate the direction of parents who object to this experiment.

Thank you again for your service at FCPS.

Sincerely,
Jacob Chang

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Sue Han
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Cc: Kinney, Joann V.
Subject: Strong Objection to Mixed Gender Bathroom Experiment at FCPS
Date: Thursday, April 23, 2015 1:21:33 PM

Dear Ms. Kaufax,

Thank you very much for serving as the Chair of Fairfax County School Board.

I heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on April 23 and May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathrooms in order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. My husband and I are very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children -- the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county -- as lab subjects for this experiment.

There is a natural concern for those psychologically unhealthy individuals who are confused and don't identify with the body parts they were assigned at birth. These people deserve understanding and require counseling and other help. But the overriding concern must be with the vast majority of students who harbor no confusion about their sexual identity.

Parents who object to exposing children to this confused behavior should not be forced to subordinate their sincerely held beliefs in order to accommodate the condition of a very small group of individuals.

Our family firmly objects to this confused behavior. The tyranny of a very small minority must not be allowed to dictate a practice which is contrary to the more common sense beliefs of the majority.

We are completely against this experiment and truly hope that FCPS will accommodate the direction of parents who object to this experiment.

Thank you again for your service at FCPS.

Sincerely,
Suhua Han, M.D.

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: Ning Li
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Strong objection to mixed gender bathroom experiment at FCPS
Date: Thursday, April 23, 2015 12:24:52 PM

Dear Ms. Kaufax:

Thank you very much for serving as the Chair of Fairfax County School Board.

I heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on April 23 and May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathrooms in order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. My husband and I are very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children -- the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county -- as lab subjects for this experiment.

There is a natural concern for those psychologically unhealthy individuals who are confused and don't identify with the body parts they were assigned at birth. These people deserve understanding and require counseling and other help. But the overriding concern must be with the vast majority of students who harbor no confusion about their sexual identity.

Parents who object to exposing children to this confused behavior should not be forced to subordinate their sincerely held beliefs in order to accommodate the condition of a very small group of individuals.

Our family firmly objects to this confused behavior. The tyranny of a very small minority must not be allowed to dictate a practice which is contrary to the more common sense beliefs of the majority.

We are completely against this experiment and truly hope that FCPS will accommodate the direction of parents who object to this experiment.

Thank you again for your service at FCPS.

Sincerely,
Christiana Li

Obtained by Judicial Watch, Inc. Via FOIA

From: bing li
To: Derenak Kaufax, Tamara (School Board Member)
Subject: Strong objection to mixed gender bathroom experiment at FCPS
Date: Wednesday, May 06, 2015 3:25:59 PM

Dear Ms. Kaufax,

Thank you very much for serving at the Fairfax County School Board.

I heard that the Fairfax County School Board will decide at meetings on May 7 whether it should experiment with mixed gender bathrooms in order to accommodate "transgender" teachers and students.

I'm writing you to voice our family's strong objections. My family is very concerned that Fairfax County has selected children -- the most vulnerable, least powerful people in our county -- as lab subjects for this experiment.

There is a natural concern for those psychologically unhealthy individuals who are confused and don't identify with the body parts they were assigned at birth. These people deserve understanding and require counseling and other help. But the overriding concern must be with the vast majority of students who harbor no confusion about their sexual identity.

Parents who object to exposing children to this confused behavior should not be forced to subordinate their sincerely held beliefs in order to accommodate the condition of a very small group of individuals.

Our family firmly objects to this confused behavior. The tyranny of a very small minority must not be allowed to dictate a practice which is contrary to the more common sense beliefs of the majority.

We are completely against this experiment and truly hope that FCPS will accommodate the direction of parents who object to this experiment.

Thank you again for your service at FCPS.

Sincerely,

Bing Li (a US Citizen and Fairfax county resident)