Since the butthurt. I think there's some passive aggressive stuff going on. Whatever.

As long as you think the plan makes sense and tracks with what we've been discussing I guess we can't really object. It's weird the DD is the first to know though. When did that become the norm?

I spoke with [redacted] tonight. They [redacted] are meeting with Wilkinson and Kendall (not clear if others) at CES tomorrow at 2. He gave me a very broad plan. Also said George told Andy Fri or this morning. Can run through their general outline tomorrow. If you have strong objection (I do not other than finding out about it after the DD), we should raise it now.
