Just talked to [redacted] He's telling me that George dreamed this up, and he thinks it's probably better to have a call at our level. He's more concerned about the message than the people on the call. We're going to touch base on Monday after we've both had a chance to get more info from Jim/George.

I forgot to mention today that George Toscas called me last night to ask me to participate in a call with counsel on Mid-Year early next week. The counsel want to discuss with us the disposition of the materials from the investigation. Are you all aware of this issue? Apparently there was a call with Fed Programs earlier this week on this topic.

Let's discuss early Monday.

Thanks.

Jim

Jim: As discussed last night, I am looping you in with [redacted] directly. Sounds like the first call(s) with counsel could occur on Monday or Tuesday. If you could loop in your assistant for scheduling [redacted] can work with them to schedule a time for the call(s), with a little lead-time for prep. Thanks again.

I know; it's very frustrating. I talked at length with [redacted] and as best I can tell it was his feeling out of the loop (following a week he was on leave, in an environment where a lot of new actors we don't control are participating), coupled with a strong desire not to be yelled at by opposing counsel. We spend entirely too much time in this case soothing [redacted] hurt feelings. I cannot believe that a grown man, a professional adult, continues to tattle. AND IT WORKS.
