Subject: [EXTERNAL] Re: Request for Meeting

Gentlemen:

One detected error below—I meant to write about access to the transcript in written and audio form: the reference to “video” can, of course, be disregarded.

With apologies,

Best,

Bob

Gentlemen:

Now that the interviews of the President have concluded, we would like to discuss with you the written presentations that we are preparing to aid in the resolution of this matter, as well as the schedule for their timely submission. To this end, we request a meeting for the purpose of hearing from you where matters stand in the case, which would enable us to focus our presentations on the issues it would be most helpful for us to address. The meeting would include both personal and White House Counsel.

Given our mutual interest in the most expeditious possible resolution, we suggest meeting at the earliest possible time. So we would ask if you would be available this week, tomorrow or Friday. Please let us know if there are times on those days that would be convenient for you. We would propose the morning, possibly 10 AM if workable on your end, but we are flexible on the time. Jennifer will be in Boston, but we could arrange for her participation by zoom.

As you know, we also have an outstanding request for copies of the exhibits you provided in your interview of the President. We have noted that these exhibits would be necessary in our review of the transcripts of the interviews to check for any omissions or inaccuracies. We believe it is fair that we have access to this material at least for this purpose. This is one of the issues we would like to resolve at the meeting, along with an understanding for our planning purposes of when the interview transcript may be available for review in both audio and video form.

Thank you,

Best,
Bob
